'Follies' brings skating stars

Champions and newcomers merge their skills to fashion the 44th edition of Shiptet's and Johnson "Ice Follies," opening at Detroit's Olympia Stadium on Tuesday, Nov. 13, through Nov. 25 for 19 performances.

The show is presented by Irvin Feld and Kenneth Feld, producers of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

Champions of the new production, headed by 30-year veteran Richard Dwyer, "the Fred Astaire of the ice," include:

NEWCOMERS TAKING their place on the program are 19-year-old Bobby Pendleton, a youngster featured in the disco and square dance production numbers; Karen King, formerly a skater in the "Donny and Marie" television specials, who skates out of the precision line to solo in three spots, and ice ballerina Grae Trautwein.

Tickets are on sale now at Olympia Box Office, all J. L. Hudson's, and Olympia Ticket Service in Birmingham.
