

Mercy, W. Bloomfield are favored

Guard Kim Plachta and forwards Beht Almburg and Carla Campbell are the big scorers for Bentley.

Farmington has had flashes of brilliance during the year, but not enough to beat Bentley. The Falcons are led by guards Sue Carruthers and Kelley Wallace and forwards Julie Tadzinski and Betsy VanNouwen. The starting center is Stacy Green.

Farmington is not a quick team. But it does have some weight and, when playing well, can rebound with anybody. To beat Bentley, the Falcons will have to play superior defense and get their inside offensive game going.

In the other bracket, North drew a bye in the first round, which only delayed the inevitable. The Raiders have failed to win a game in the last two years and stand at 0-20 this season.

They will, in all likelihood, face Livonia Stevenson, a team that was the undefeated champion of the Inter Lakes League and won its last 12 contests.

The Spartans are led by Noreen Kelley and Karen Kelley (no relation), both forwards, and guard Beth Mueller.

The three complement each other well offensively — Mueller leads the fast break, Karen Kelley is an effective outside shooter and Noreen Kelley is a fine offensive rebounder.

North's top player is senior forward Barrie Bailey, but the Raiders will not advance beyond their first game. The closest they have come to a win this year is a 20-point loss.

When the finals roll around next Friday, it should be Stevenson against Bentley.

The winner advances to the regionals and could very likely play the winner of the Southfield district. Bentley should be that team.
