Mrs. Trombley does from one to two weddings a week and is working on July and August weddings now doing bouquets, corsages, boutonnières, cake tops and the cluster that is made specifically to be thrown away.

Ms. Turner does two or three weddings a month, but in addition to making all of those flower designs, adds all of the flowers for the church and reception in her offering of a complete wedding service.

"I am at the church long before the bridal party setting up all the flower arrangement there," she said, "and when the last girl is on her way down the aisle I am on my way to the reception. I even once decorated a porch for pictures."

DRIED AND SILK flower arrangements for home accessories, or any special occasion is the mainstay of Baskets and Bows at 4 Forest Place, in Plymouth, decorated in an old world country motif.

Floral Boutique, 35115 Grand

River, is an attractive and comfortable shop that offers both fresh and dried arrangements.

But both women spend a lot of their working time away from their shops running to markets and trade shows keeping up with the new trends.
