Crowning touch is natural hair style

Under a wedding veil, your hair, as well as your face, will be the center of attention. Natural, shining hair is the hallmark of the '80s bride.

"Simple, elegant hairstyles will be the look of the '80s bride," said Jorge Enrique, who recently joined Saks Fifth Avenue Troy beauty salon as hair designs director.

Enrique's forte in hair design is his special knack for giving each client a contemporary style that is uniquely hers. "I am opposed to a hairdresser dictating and to cookie-cutter styling," he said.

Generally, he favors hair that looks controlled but which is actually soft, free and feminine. "I aim," he said, "for easy manageability and versatility so that the style can be changed for special occasions or simply for variety."

The spring-summer bride should begin to plan now with her hairdresser for a hairstyle that will complement her wedding gown and headpiece as well as work well for the honeymoon, Enrique said.

"Above all," he added, "a bride's hair should look shiny, healthy and full."

It's time to plan for your special day and you want everything to be perfect-right down to the smallest petal.
