Her fiancé is executive vice president of Credit Union Service Centers Corporation and graduated from University of Texas-El Paso. A June wedding is planned in First Presbyterian Church of Farmington.

Lighting of yesteryear featured at museum

While oil lamps, kerosene lamps, brass candle holders and some tin ware used for lighting in the 1700s, are part of the "Early American Lighting" display in Plymouth Historical Museum. The special show will continue through March in the museum at 155 S. Main, open 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for those from 12-17; and 25 cents for children from 5-11. Special educational tours may be arranged.

Purdue grad

Deborah Jean Justice of Farmington Hills was among 1,478 students who completed degree requirements at Purdue University in December. She received a bachelor of science degree and majored in humanities, social science and education.

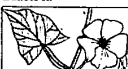

4 in county 'Winners Show'

Four Farmington artists have their work on display in the "All Oakland Winners Show" in the main lobby of the Oakland County complex, 1200 North Telegraph, Pontiac. Among the winners are Ceil Surbrook, associated with Spectrum Gallery in Farmington Hills' Chatham Square, and Alice Nichols, a founder of Farmington Art Foundation. Nancy Suffolk, who was chosen

Farmington Artist of the Month in February, displays "The Virgin and the Whore." Ronald Parry displays "Rouge River," an oil painting. The show combines all of the winning works, of all media, that won top prizes in juried shows throughout the county. About 50 drawings and paintings, and ten pieces of sculpture are on display and will remain through March 7.
