

Joanne Berg's hair style was reminiscent of a Betty Grable pompadour with its curly bangs.

Lynda Moore wore a sheer voile top with an accordion pleated skirt.

Modeling is family affair

There is a return to glamour on the spring fashion scene. Controlled hair styles are back and so is makeup — even the marked emphasis of eyeliner. Slit skirts, practical terry knits in deep lush colors that have the richness of plush or velvet, sheer voiles, polka dots and eyelet embroidered cotton are feminine yet practical.

The new trends were in evidence last Thursday when Barbara Secord, president of the Plymouth Newcomers Club, welcomed more than 220 members and guests to the club's luncheon and fashion show in the Plymouth Hilton. The new residents of the community discovered that cooperation is the name of the game when it comes to sponsoring a successful enterprise.

Local businesses pitched in with prizes and services to make the Newcomers' party an enjoyable affair.

Models were members of the club, their husbands and children. The women's fashions were from Claire Kelly of Plymouth with Ms. Kelly acting as commentator. Men's wardrobes were coordinated by Bill Cheff of Famous Men's Wear. Children's outfits from the Little Angels Shoppe were selected by Charleen Hoffman.

Pat Hann described the women's and girls' hair styles designed in her salons — The House of Glamour and the Mayflower Beauty Salon. Mel's Golden Razor was responsible for the men's and boys' hair styles.

MODELS WERE club members Joanne Berg, Pam Briggs, Debby Johnson, Alda Jean Lusk, Lynda Moore, Ray Rehm, Mary Schauer and Fab Snage.

Each modeled a series of casual, daytime and dress-up ensembles. Joanne Berg wore a black and white polka dot outfit with a twirly skirt and sleeveless top. Later, her brown sheer dress with small white dots featured full skirt and full length sleeves.

An all-white, three-piece suit — tube top, slacks and comfortable belted jacket — was modeled by Pam Briggs. It's mood was summer pool and patio parties. Another crowd-pleaser was a sleeveless wrap dress in a dark brown and tan print that came in one size to fit all.

Debbie Johnson wore a long red and white dotted blouse over white trousers. She also modeled separates — print shirt, knit vest and wrap skirt.

Mary Schauer wore a grandfather shirt with the new straighter skirt with a front slit. Lynda Moore modeled a sheer voile top with an accordion-pleated skirt.

The fashion show was coordinated by club members Linda Anderson, Janet English and Barbara Secord.
