

Memorial Day Baja

Michigan State University student Craig Lewis, of Farmington Hills, poses with one of the all-terrain vehicles that he and several other mechanical engineering majors have designed and are constructing in the student engineering shop on campus. The cars will compete in the Society of Automotive Engineers Mini-Baja Contest in Milwaukee during the Memorial Day weekend.

Lessons set for kayakers

Any Farmington area resident, 14 years or older, interested in learning the basic skills of handling a kayak, should register for the Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation introductory kayaking class.

The course consists of 12 hours of classroom and pool training, and six hours of river experience. All necessary equipment will be provided.

The participation fee is $49. Interested persons may call the Parks and Recreation office at 474-6115 to register.

Roads need work

There are 33 miles of road in Farmington and Farmington Hills that are part of the Oakland County Road Commission's 2,486-mile countywide system.

Only 4.54 miles of that 33-mile section is considered adequate by the road commission.

Earlier this month, the Board of Road Commissioners released this year's list of local roads and their characteristics compiled for state highway officials. The report is required annually because the road commission receives revenue from state-collected gas and vehicle weight taxes.
