

Child's fun week CAN continue

By the end of the week, you may feel like kicking in the can. Don't do it, we need the can for this project!

Take two empty cans, like the ones fruit punch come in. Remove one end completely from each can. On the other end of each can, punch two holes with a can-opener.

Thread some heavy string, such as leftover laundry cord, through the holes and knot on the inside of the can. The length of the rope is determined by the height of the child, so you'll have to measure.

If your can came with a plastic lid, place it on the open end of the can. If not, cover the rim with masking tape as the edge might be sharp. You now have a pair of stilts.

The challenge comes next. Grasp the cord of one can in one hand, and the cord of the other can in the other hand. Now, place the left foot onto the can you're holding with your left hand, and the right foot onto the can being held with the right hand.

Now alternate pulling up on the rope attached to the can with the foot on it that you want to move. Move forward, one after the other, slowly at first. It is not easy as it looks, nor as hard as it sounds. (These directions are for the benefit of adults, children will most likely know immediately how to maneuver.)

With practice one can walk backwards. Can you run? Hop? Jump? You can too!

Sunday

Cook and then eat a breakfast smile

Start Sunday with a smile. Smile pancakes, that is. This very simple but childishly appealing breakfast treat can be prepared with the help of your young gourmet, provided you supervise and plan ahead.

Fun is the goal and the ingredients include giggles and laughter along with standard pancake-makings.

Pancakes do not require exacting measurements, so you can let your child do much of the measuring and mixing.

Now for the fun. Use a small cup to pour enough batter onto the griddle to form eyes, nose, and mouth. Wait until these parts look quite bubbly on top. Do not turn them over yet.

Next, pour batter over this face to form a round pancake. By using a ¼ cup measure and pouring slowly, the parts will not move around. Treat the pancake normally from here, flipping when the top bubbles.

Remove from heat and serve with syrup, jelly, or plain.

After your youngster has had a chance to observe the process, you may wish to allow him to try creating a smile pancake. A variation with a personal theme is to form initials instead of a face. In any case, repeat the procedure until the stomach is full.

Madonna makes faculty promotions

Faculty promotions which will go into effect in September were announced recently at Madonna College.

Promoted to professor was Sr. Mary Hugoline of Livonia. She is a member of the foreign language department.

Edward Meyer of Livonia was promoted to the associate professor rank in natural sciences.

Assistant professor promotions went to Dennis Borky of Westland in social science, James Capi of Livonia, biology, and Sr. Edith Marie of Livonia, in music.

Others promoted to assistant professor were Sr. Martin Ann Stamm of Livonia, religious studies; Margaret Maynard of Redford Township, biology; Sr. Mary Rachel of Livonia, communication arts; and Carol Zenas, also of Livonia, nursing.

Strelezuk enters LIT with full scholarship

Michael G. Strelezuk has been awarded a full scholarship for the 1979-80 academic year by Lawrence Institute of Technology (LIT).

The scholarship, one of 31 awarded to outstanding high school students in Michigan, will cover full-time tuition fees for the entire year and is renewable for up to four years, provided the student maintains at least a 3.0 average.

Strelezuk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Strelezuk and a 1979 graduate of Farmington High School.

He leaves high school with a 3.6 grade average, after participating in the school's track, football and baseball teams, and as a diver for Farmington High School Falcons.

For Government Day, he was elected city assessor, and for the summer he will be working with the city of Farmington as an assistant in the city accessions office.

Strelezuk will be studying business administration at LIT. He earned the scholarship through tests on scholastic achievement and recommendations from the high school faculty.

About two-thirds of LIT's 4,800 students receive some form of financial assistance.

Before the year is over, LIT's financial aid office will have awarded nearly $3 million in the form of scholarships, grants, loans and work-study programs.

Antique dolls are on display

"A Walk in the Park with Your Doll" is the theme of Plymouth Historical Museum's special exhibit running through Sept. 10.

The museum, at 155 South Main St. in Plymouth, is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1-4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for those 12-17; and 25 cents for those from 5-11 years.

Special educational tours may be arranged in advance by calling the museum, 455-8940.

Dolls from 1850-1920 include a metal head doll, a 1900 painted cloth doll, papier-mache dolls from about 1850, wooden dolls and an all-China bathing doll by Benkiner made about 1860.

One of the unusual displays is a street scene with miniature dolls, and there is an 1800 doll made from a potato masher.
