When police arrrived, Mrs. Foster denied taking the baby. However, police said she confessed while in the police car. She reportedly told police she had taken Monique because she wanted a baby and wasn't able to have one.

"She said she had a stillborn baby

Mrs. Foster had familiarized herself with hospital personnel by visiting the infant's mother, Ann Tookes, 19. She told Ms. Tookes that she was a social worker who visits hospitals and had told a hospital employee she was the baby's aunt, Crawford said.

A 31-year-old Troy woman who reportedly abducted an infant to replace the stilliborn child she had recently delibered was a resteted Monday atter a frantic search for the missing child.

Hospital officials were worrish that her condition may have worsened without treatment of antibiotics while she was with Mar. Foster. Later a hospital spokesman said her condition had not worsened and that treatment would continue. Mrs. Foster had two children from a previous marriage which had died. One child was killed in an automobile crash and another died of natural causes, Crawford said. She told police she wanted to have a baby very much.

Beaumont officials said they are re-viewing their security procedures as a result of the abduction. Currently, the hospital allows parents or a designated substitute to visit children at any time of day on the pediatrics ward.

At the annual convention of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association held recently in New Jer-sey, Margarel Barbier Carey of Bloom-field Hills received the Recognitions

Mrs. Carey was president of the Dearborn branch from 1942 to 1944 and Michigan Division president from 1944-1946. In keeping with WNFG's aim to encourage cooperation and understanding between urban and rural women, she initiated scholarships to Michigan State University. In addition

She encouraged the planting of victory gardens and with the help of Mrs. Henry Ford, built two screened sumer houses at Veteran's Hoghital.

The Recognition Award states 'initiative, encouragement, leadership and delightful persuasiveness has endeared her to many members. We thank her for her guidance and her objectives then and now, a better understanding between rural and urban women."
