John Clark enjoyed talking about the old days in Farmington, when life was less hectic and getting around the metropolitan area was a lot easier.

Transportation was easier back in days of DUR north of Farmington for summer recreation.

Clark recalled the payroll came out every two weeks on a trolley car.

"We got paid in cash in silver and in gold. There was never a guard on the payroll car and never a robbery. I think the wage was 24 cents an hour."

Robbers did cut DUR powerlines for the copper, however, and were often caught by the local constables.

Farmington Road was called Division north of Farmington for summer recreation and the DUR lines went down Farmington Road and out Eight Mile along the north side of the road.

The DUR carried mail to Farmington and flour from the Gildemeister mill to Detroit.

At its peak, the DUR employed more than 200 men in Farmington. The front end of some of the trolley cars were partitioned off for card playing and smoking.

Masonic Temple hosts meals for festival goers

Once again, the Masonic Temple Association of Farmington will sponsor a vast array of delicious meals and fun activities in conjunction with the 15th annual Farmington Founders' Festival July 25-29.

The Masonic Temple, whose building at Grand River and Farmington Road has long been a symbol of the two Farmington communities, will sponsor six different meals in addition to its traditional Crafters Corner. All events will take place on the temple grounds.

There is a charge for meals and the Crafters Corner items are for sale. Residents are invited to browse through the merchandise and admire the fine restoration work and landscaping which has been taking place at the temple.

Beginning Sunday, July 22 and continuing through the following Wednesday, the Farmington Masonic Temple Association will sponsor a chicken barbecue from noon to 6 p.m. The Association will sponsor a pasta dinner from 5-7 p.m.

A smorgasbord is on tap from 5-7 p.m. Thursday, July 26, sponsored by the White Shrine. OES No. 239 will handle the Swiss Steak Dinner from 5-7 p.m. Friday, July 27. Jobs Daughters' ham dinner is set for 5-7 p.m. Saturday, July 28.

The final Masonic Temple Meal will take place from 9:30 a.m. to noon Sunday, July 29 — the popular pancake breakfast sponsored by the White Shrine.

The Masonic Temple's Crafters Corner, which has become a tradition with the Founders Festival, will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.
