Optimism-Rules Business

Mr. Pauline of the Grace Store said, "We are optimists." Mr. Newman of the firm of Newman and Tamm, vouchsafed, "We are hard at work."

Wm. Goers, of the Lake Drive garage stated, "My business is ever on the increase. I have got no kick at all."

George Nacker was in this morning from Clareville and he says he has about four acres of land in the village. "And I'm going to keep it," he stated. "Land values are going up in Clareville," he continued.

Mr. Dodge, resident manager of the Detroit Edison Co., states that business is the same as usual.

N. J. Eisenlord & Son, Electrical Experts state that they have plenty of work.

Clareville School Notes.

Miss Alice Yeakes of Northville, attended the Christmas exercises given by the Clareville school December 23rd.

Miss Marie Walling spent Monday visiting the First grade room.

A new pupil has been welcomed to our school, Henriette Burton.

To say that enthusiasm ran 100 per cent would be expressing it mildly, but in spite of this the program was started promptly at 1:30 and ran without a hitch for two hours. We don't claim much for the program itself, but are exceedingly well-pleased with the many comments we received.

Mr. Wooley is well-pleased with the talent which the pupils exhibited and which is only awaiting for a chance to grow. He says the possibilities of the glorious future for the school is limited only by the time and the equipment which can be made accessible.

Try a L. her. It will pay.

St Spooner Says:

When the feller sold me my wood for the fire place he said it would burn while it lasted.

An old settler said "Si, business is good, if you don't believe it read the Enterprise, or ask any man in town."

Water that has gone by the mill won't grind any corn. Just like buying jewelry for your best girl.

An old settler told me in that in the old days a man in Michigan did not dare talk out of turn. Just like attending a Board of Directors meeting these days. Be sure you know what your talking about before saying anything!

It is too bad a man's foresight isn't as good as his hind sight.

Life is a battle but there is fairness even in battle to do the right thing and the other fellow will reciprocate.

A ship without a rudder is helpless - a business house without a rudder is also helpless.

Confidence is the backbone of business.

Keep your eye on the man who says wood. He is the fellow with a bank account.

It is easy to give advice, but it is hard to follow.

They tell me the big political guns are going to give the soldiers a bonus.

Anybody can drive a Ford on a paved road but it takes an expert to drive up three steps and down again without calling on the insurance people.

Ask Fred Cook, he said he didn't think it could be done.

Where is the old settler who used to keep his money under the bed?

Farmingtonians are the salt of the earth - ask any of us.

I was in Northville recently and Mr. Kilgour told me it paid to advertise in the Enterprise. He also told me that Farmington people are good folks to deal with.

Anybody can get by in life but it the fellow who does more than he has to do who eventually becomes executive.

Joe Himmelspach tells me all that was missing at the football banquet last fall was my meal. He ate mine and his both. If you don't believe it ask Doctor Holcomb.

Fridg goes before the fall. I don't anybody take themselves too seriously.

Anybody can go to a dance but everybody can't always have all the dances with girl he likes - she may call you to a turn. Cheer up. There are one hundred million other girls. Ask Ralph Gray.

He says if a girl likes you she will take every opportunity to let you know you are less than dust.

Well folks I haven't had such a hard time writing anything before. A harder time than one of our reporters had at the first meeting of the Directors of the Board of Commerce.

Hudson and Essex Lead the New Competition

(A Statement by the Hudson Motor Car Company and Essex Motors)

Selective buying again rules the automobile market.

Inability to secure delivery of his first choice no longer forces the buyer to accept a less wanted car.

The return of competition to a basis of merit is welcomed by Hudson and Essex in common with all builders of established reputation.

They have not regarded competition on the basis of ability to deliver as at all a good thing for the motor industry. That situation invited many to plunge into automobile manufacture and exploit the quick profits seizable from unprecedented demand.

A SITUATION THAT WAS INEVITABLE

Now once more the task of supplying the motor car demand devolves upon the builders, whose organization, experience and product have proved their fitness to survive through years of competition that recognized none's right to live except by superior merit.

We could not, in candor, urge that Hudson and Essex alone are deserving of consideration to the exclusion of all other cars.

We know that there are other thoroughly good cars, some even that can well wear the name of great cars, and we acknowledge the ability, application and loyalty to ideals which alone could have produced them.

Yet today, more than 100,000 Hudson, Super-Sixes are in service. It is, and has been for five years, the largest selling fine car in the world. Consider if its title to leadership were less deserved if the flaw would not have appeared in five years.

THE SAME MEN ALSO BUILD ESSEX

And Essex shares this prestige. Not merely because Hudson builds the Essex, and therefore pre-pledges to it all the experience and knowledge gained in building the Super-Six. Rather because the Essex, not content with this endorsement, has established its own place with such famous records as four times breaking the transcontinental record with four different cars, and in establishing the world's 50-hour endurance mark. And nearly 50,000 owners also know and acclaim its worth.
