ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE OFFICIAL STATES FACTS

The wets in the state are attempting in every possible manner to arouse opposition to the "State Police," said J. G. Haller, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Michigan in an address delivered at Grand Rapids a few evenings ago. Mr. Haller, who is in a position to be quite well informed, charged that practically all of the complaints made against the constabulary indicated a wide-spread plot to discredit the troopers who are making a concerted effort to enforce the prohibition laws. Mr. Haller reviewed the work of the State Police during the past six months and praised the force highly for their effective work.

SEVERAL STATES WILL INCREASE POLICE PAY

Requests have been made of the Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia legislatures for an increase in the scale of the pay of State Police in those states. The new scales approximate that asked for the Michigan State Police. It has been the general experience that, in order to secure the permanent enlistment of the desirable class of men needed, a more adequate salary is required.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS ARRESTED

State Police troopers are still devoting some of their time to intoxicating motorists, as several persons have found out recently. Troopers Esterline and Carter have been unusually active in picking up drivers of motor cars who were under the influence of liquor.

SIX MONTHS' RECORD SHOWS POLICE WORK

MICHIGAN, TROOPERS MAKE MORE ARRESTS IN HALF YEAR THAN EVER BEFORE.

Development of Constabulary Indicated By Variety of Different Services Performed.

Major Robert E. Marsh, commanding the Michigan State Police, has made public the record of his department for the six months ending December 31, 1920. This shows that 1,340 arrests were made and 988 convictions secured in the six months compared with 1,046 arrests and 832 convictions in the entire year ending June 30, 1920. Better organization of the force and a more widespread activity throughout the state accounts for increase in arrests and convictions.

It has been the aim of Major Marsh to train the State Police as a body of men to co-operate with state and county officials in law enforcement work and to supply trained police officers for service in the rural communities. Uniform law enforcement throughout the state, with no favoritism, has been the ideal sought.

That Michigan, outside of the larger cities, ranks better than other states in the matter of tidiness is evidenced by the fact that only three murderers were arrested during the six months. There were six bank robbers arrested and one highwayman. Four men were held for rape and four others for murder. Burglars arrested numbered ten; while 40 were taken for grand larceny, 23 for simple larceny and others for pocket-picking, obtaining money under false pretenses and other crimes against property.

Naturally, there were numerous arrests for drunkenness, disorderliness and disturbing the peace. One escaped convict was recaptured. Gambling accounted for 55 arrests. Prohibition law violations resulted in 10 arrests. In fact, there was hardly a crime on the state books for which arrests were not made by the troopers. The motor law caused more than 500 arrests alone.

Instances where aid was given local officials totaled 498 and assistance was given in 57 automobile accidents. The troopers helped 33 times in fighting forest fires and 26 times in miscellaneous fires. In 75 instances assistance was rendered to state departments. A total of 3,144 complaints were investigated.

Guard duty was undertaken at 24 fairs in the state. Eighteen missing persons were found, of whom two were adults. Twenty-six automobiles were recovered for owners. Thirty-one dogs were killed. In gambling one dog was killed. 31 slot machines two faro bets, five Klondike boards, four chuck-a-luck outfits and a quantity of crap and poker devices and dice were seized.

A total of 271,400 miles of patrol duty is reported. Stolen goods valued at $78,821 were recovered. Fines imposed amounted to $53,338.33 and costs assessed were $6,528.83. Eighty-four stills were seized and 17,532 gallons of liquor. In addition to the motor law violators, arrested, warnings were given in 2,178 cases, the aim being to make Michigan highways safe.

SUPERVISORS CHANGE ATTITUDE ON POLICE

Boards of supervisors in a number of Michigan counties have gone on record at the January sessions in favor of the continuance of the State Police force. In addition to the board of Macomb county, which rescinded a former resolution adverse to the State Police and replaced it by a favorable one at a December session, action of this kind was taken in January by the boards in Kent, Wexford and Oscoda counties. In Calhoun county, also a more favorable attitude was shown. In most of the counties where resolutions adverse to the State Police were passed by the supervisors, organizations of citizens have passed resolutions favoring the constabulary and petitions in behalf of the State Police have been circulated by prominent residents.

STATE POLICE OFFICER ARRESTS MAN WHO SHOT

Lieutenant A. McGuire, of the Orion detachment of the State Police, arrested Earl Coyte last night after a long chase, charging him with an assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. Coyte is alleged to have shot Frank Baumgart in the leg, following an argument on the Coyte farm two miles west of Orion on the west Orion road. The arrest took place after Lieutenant McGuire had made a trip to the place and had investigated the stories which were being circulated. Coyte was taken before Justice Casey, where he pleaded not guilty. Bail was demanded in the sum of $500, which was not furnished. The case is now pending.

GAMBLING RAIDS ARE A SUCCESS

STATE POLICE SEIZE LARGE QUANTITY OF DEVICES IN MACOMB COUNTY.

In a series of raids on roadhouses and clubs in Macomb county, a detachment of the Michigan State Police headed by Sergt. Mulbar and Sahm seized a diversified collection of gambling paraphernalia. Among the places raided were the Edgewater Beach Club, Blossom Heath Inn and Margolies Inn.

The raids were timed so as to occur when gambling was at its height and roulette wheels, "birdcages" and other mechanical devices of the professional gambler were in operation. Fashionably dressed women were found in these roadhouses, with their escorts, and there was evidence of drinking as well as gambling. Indeed, a small quantity of liquor was discovered and confiscated.

Joseph M. Spiller, the new sheriff of Macomb county, co-operated in every way with the State Police and the cases were pushed to trial. Fines of $50 apiece were imposed by Justice William Soren on all of the proprietors, professional gamblers and disorderly characters arrested in these raids. No arrests of patrons were made, it being felt that the fright which was apparent was sufficient punishment for the time being.

BIG WINE STOCK SEIZED BY THE STATE POLICE

Seven hundred gallons of wine and nearly a ton of grapes were seized by Sergeant Martin Erickson of the State Police the other night when he raided a boarding house run by Mrs. Steve Marana at Caspita. It had long been suspected that Mrs. Marana had been dispensing liquor at her establishment and Sergeant Erickson was assigned to the case. He discovered seven barrels of wine in the cellar and while completing his search he uncovered a secret door leading into a sub-cellar. Here he found nearly a ton of grapes and nine barrels of wine. The total number of gallons was a little over 700.
