

FARMERS

With present price prospects it is indeed a bit encouraging to plan the spring planting.

There are however some favorable factors. Seed is also cheaper and labor is and will be much lower. The farmer who uses good seed and prepares the soil with care is going to show a profit for the year.

It may not be as large as some other years, but with the land there and the equipment with which to work it, no farmer can afford to let his acres lie idle.

As in the past, to the farmer who works hardest and gives the most thought, will go the greatest profit.

25 STUDENTS FROM MICHIGAN AT SCHOOL

TRAINING IN WELFARE WORK IS GIVEN BY SALVATION ARMY AT CHICAGO COLLEGE.

Every sect on of the country is represented in the list of students attending the Salvation Army Training College, 700 Brompton Place, Chicago, Ill. Young men and women are trained here to become specialists, not only in saving souls, but in all the branches of welfare work for which this organization is noted.

Applicants for training are passed upon by Salvation Army Advisory Boards in each community. This local administration of organization's manifold activities is one of the latest steps taken in consolidating the work.

It is predicted that the enrollment for the coming year will be doubled as a result of the new co-operation and interest. Michigan will send more than 25 students.

The college is one of the unique institutions of the country, turning out at the end of each year a group of graduates fitted especially for the arduous work of the Salvationists. Their assignments made at commencement send them frequently to the darkest corners of the world to work among the sick and lowly.

A certain amount of the $255,000 asked by the Salvation Army in Michigan between May 2 and 17 is to be used in training Salvationists for Army work.

Yank Kicks-In With New Drum

A certain Salvation Army corps in Michigan, has a new drum.

A tall, raw-boned American toughboy, wearing the insignia of the Army of Occupation, lugged the drum into the place last week.

"Say, Cap," yelled the soldier, "here's a new drum. A couple of years before the war I stole one of your drums and the gang and me had a great time."

"I thought it was a pretty good joke on you birds until the war came and I went to France. Then one day some lassies came through the trenches and handed us coffee and doughnuts."

"That was the day I promised myself I'd ever get home again I'd buy a new drum for you."

"And—here 'tis."

The Salvation Army's missing persons bureau finds thousands of missing persons in all parts of the world every year.

Unwed mothers find a haven in the Salvation Army Maternity Hospitals at Detroit and Grand Rapids.

In the slum settlements of the city the Salvation Army lassie is known as the "angel of mercy."

The Salvation Army rebuilds self-respect and manhood in its industrial homes in Michigan.

Hundreds of girls are cared for at Salvation Army Rescue and Boarding Homes every year.

GOOD TO REMEMBER

Maximus of Tranklin have been the measure of various successes and failures for many years. Some of them are quite familiar, others are not so often quoted, but hold their full measure of truth. Among them are the following:

Great talkers, little doers.

Lost time is never found again

A sleeping fox catches no poultry.

Let thy discontents be thy secrets.

He that can have patience can have what he will.

You may be too cunning for one, but not for all.

The wise and the brave dare one and that he is wrong.

If you know not the nature? don't, go; if not, send.

Many would like to live by their wits, but break for want of stock.

What signifies knowing the names, if you know not the nature of this?

'Tis easier to suppress the first desire than to satisfy all that follow it.

As we must account for every idle word, so must we for every idle silence.

ARKAN SAW MUSINGS

Nighttime fame is an epigraph on a tombstone, and her post-mortem flowers bloom only into monuments.

Lots of men have all the clothes they want. But you never saw a woman on that way.

Just as we tell the "good morning" and think we know how to walk the way it's time to say "good night."
