Highest Court in Land Reverses Judge Sessions Holding

HIS MANY FRIENDS SEND CONGRATULATIONS

The law under which Senator Newberry and his sixteen co-defendants were convicted was declared unconstitutional by five supreme court judges. Senator Newberry said, "I am thankful that the good name of the state has been absolutely cleared; that those who were associated with me have been vindicated, and that the confidence of my many loyal friends has been confirmed."

Under the state law Senator Newberry committed no violation as the state law places no limit to the amount to be spent by friends in behalf of a candidate. It simply limits the amount spent or repaid by him. The federal law which was declared unconstitutional places a limit of $10,000 expenditures for United States Senators.

The vindication of Senator Truman H. Newberry clears the way for Senator Townsend to succeed himself. However, friends of Mayor James H. Couzens of Detroit, are enthusiastically button-holing for Couzens for Senator, and it is reported that all effort is being made to galvanize the course of the last Warner campaign for senator into life, but is wobbly on its feet and has had indefinite reaction.

Pig and Whistle Extend Show Room Space

Manager Keller Prepares for the Summer Trade.

BUSINESS O. K. AT JUNCTION

With the coming of summer and the added tourist trade, the Pig & Whistle Corporation enlarged their store in order to be able to more efficiently handle the increased business which comes in the summer. The Junction is a fine road, connecting with the finest inland lakes in this part of the country. People from Detroit and vicinity drive through the Junction on their way to the lakes and many stop here for food and other supplies.

As a matter of fact this part of the community will develop rapidly from now on. The Goers have plans which will make the Junction a center of which any community may be proud.

GRAVEL DELIVERED DAILY

Farmington can now boast of a new industry which is developing into a sizable proposition. Tractors and a loading machine have been installed. The loading equipment deposits the gravel into the bed of the trucks by means of a conveyor that carries the gravel to a height which will reach the top of the highest motor truck, depositing the material into a chute which allows the gravel to flow into the truck bed by means of gravity.

Gravel is one of the basic materials of construction work and with the rapidly increasing population of Detroit, building will be carried on for many years to come in order to take care of the economic demands of the people. Gravel near the work will be in great demand, and from indications, this pit has gravel deposits in great quantity.

HERBERT TUTTLE

Seldom does death take one from a community who will be more missed than Herbert Tuttle. Mr. Tuttle was born in 1858 on a farm two and one-half miles from Walled Lake, in Commerce Township.

He was the eldest son of a family of eight children, his grand parents being among the early settlers. In 1885 Mr. Tuttle was united in marriage to Miss Alice E. Rival of Farmington township. To them were born two children, Raymond, who died in infancy and Ruth.

Mr. Tuttle served his township as supervisor. In 1898 he moved to Detroit and engaged in the commission business for seventeen years and has since been in the produce business.

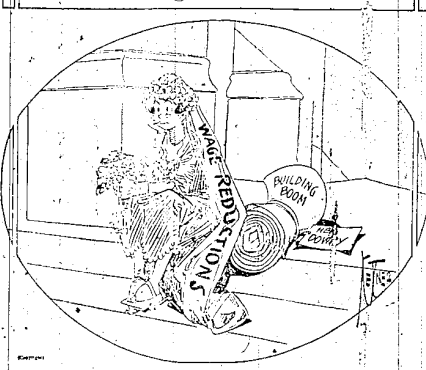

The funeral was held from the late home near North Farmington Friday, April 29th. Burial was at Walled Lake. Dr. C. B. Allen, pastor of the North Woodward M. E. church of Detroit, where Mr. Tuttle was a member, said, the service and Mrs. B. E. Church of Pontiac sang.

Mothers Day Proclamation

By The Governor

It is the beautiful custom which decrees that one Sunday in the year shall be set apart for the purpose of honoring the memory of the mothers who have gone from us and of paying a tribute of affection and reverence to those who are still left with us. It is impossible to compute our debt to our mothers. Their devotion and sacrifice, guidance, and sheltered and cared for us from the cradle up to manhood and womanhood. To them most of us owe whatever there is of sterling character in our make-up. The mother is the heart of the home, and from the heartstones, around which linger the recollections of our mothers, comes inspiration, that give hope and courage and steadfastness to fight the battle of life.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Michigan, I do hereby designate and set aside and I call upon all people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day.

Sunday May 8th, as Mothers' Day

And let all our sons and daughters take this occasion to visit the mother in the old home, or, where such a visit is impossible, let them send a message of cheer and greeting.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on this day to refrain from the use of alcoholic liquors in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this Twenty-second day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-fifth.

By the Governor: ALEX J. GROSBECK, Governor.
CHARLES J. DELAND, Secretary of State.

Whose Is The Hidden Hand

In Farmington?

Taxpayers Deprived of Information of Council Doings.

PEOPLE WARNED TO WATCH EXPENDITURES.

At the Farmington council meeting, held Monday evening, May 2, 1921, according to the village clerk, the majority of the council voted to discontinue publishing the council proceedings in the Enterprise. In the proceedings there appears no further action of the council to continue the publication of the proceedings.

The publication of proceedings was the only means of information the taxpayers and the public in general had to secure knowledge regarding the expenditure of money by the council.

It has been rumored that certain interests in the village of Farmington want free sewers and free water for their subdivisions. The publication of the council proceedings in the Enterprise is the only method by which the taxpayers of the village can be kept informed of the action of the council in the planning of sewer extensions and other improvements.

It has been intimated in the past that certain interests receive a share of public improvements and are not given to all taxpayers alike. It was hoped that with the coming of the new council that a new era in public affairs would be inaugurated. A new era apparently has been inaugurated but what the outcome will be will be watched by the taxpayers and the Enterprise with closer scrutiny than ever before.

Certain interests in the village appear to think that by withdrawing advertising to bulldoze the Enterprise into quiescence but they reckon not wisely nor well, as the Enterprise will give the news and protect the interests of the taxpayers, regardless of social standing of the parties concerned.

The people of Farmington want public improvements but we do not think or believe that those who already have put in their improvements wish to be saddled with the burden of improving farm property within the village limits at their expense and under the guise of public necessity. We believe that the people believe and we believe without reservation that those having farms within the village should put in their own improvements at their own expense, under the direction of the village, and that the village should not furnish the money to exploit private property.

We further believe in the annexation of property East of the village upon the conditions already stated; that the property holders construct their own sewers and put in water mains and that the city give them service. By so doing the property East of the village by increase of assessment will become at once a direct asset to the village in the matter of taxes. These taxes will go toward reducing the burden of the present village tax.

The Enterprise pledges the publication of it will publish from time to time full information regarding proposed expenditures so far as this information can be secured.

Edwin Denby Tendered Banquet by Detroit Citizen Friends

World War Veteran Now Secretary of the Navy.

FROM GOB UP, IS RECORD

Citizens from all walks of life tendered a banquet and reception to Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy. This man joined the navy at the outbreak of the World War as a private in the Marine Corps and today because of his remarkable ability we find him as head of the finest navy in the world. During the World War, contrary to the opinions of some of the greatest naval strategists existent in our navy transported food and supplies across the Atlantic in spite of the aggressive and barbarous work of the submarines. Today this same navy under the leadership of Secretary Denby stands ready to insure the security of American interests abroad and at home. This man likes his work and we from Michigan are proud of Ned Denby.
