Clear Vision

Do not lose your first vision in your eyes. On her return home from school she reported to her little brother that a perfect was a dot, and a comma was a period that had sprouted.—Boston Transcript.

Language of Jars in China.

In some parts of China jars are placed on the roof of houses as weather-vane advertisements. A jar turned upside down means that the daughter of the house is too young to marry. A jar laid on its mouth to the street indicates that the maiden is of age. When the jar is shattered the jar is removed.

Swiss Have Right Idea.

The prudent employment of Switzerland are dealt with as an economic question. The Swiss act on the theory that a man who is unemployed is a liability to the community and that for a community to permit any one of its members who is capable of work to remain unemployed is a public waste.

Ancestry Prone to Peril.

In the mountain of Southern Arabia, a region of bandits, wars and perils, lives a mysterious tribe of people who are entirely ignorant of the Arabs. They live in caves, and use in villages, not tents. They are said to be a relic of the Persian army which invaded the country nearly 1500 years ago.

Teamwork.

The man at the top does not know his men all down the line. Yet he inspires them and inspires him. They do their work for the knowledge that they are under the close observation of their superior and he does his work better for familiarizing himself with details and keeping in touch with all the latest requirements.—Washington Star.

For Cleaning Leather.

A very good leather cleaner is composed of equal parts of alcohol and sweet oil. After applying the mixture with a cloth, it should be left on the leather for two days after which the leather must be wiped dry. Ordinary soap and water makes a good cleaning agent for leather, the soap being applied with a sponge and wiped off with a clean cloth.
