State Police Give Interesting Incidents Regarding Their Work

Tact and Firmness Necessary to Cope with Public

EACH DAY HAS ITS NEW SITUATION

Sergeant Schrader stated, "I believe in the co-operation with the local authorities and with the people in order to safeguard the lives of the public on the highways of the state. Intoxicated drivers in the summer months is the major problem that we have to deal with. For example, last Sunday we were patrolling Grand River Avenue in a westerly direction at 9:45 p. m., when we encountered an automobile collision in Novi Township. Gary W. Deal of Northville ran into another car, taking off a front wheel of the other car and putting it out of running order. We placed Deal under arrest and took him before Justice Fredinburg of Pontiac. Deal pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 65 days in the Oakland County jail and pay a fine of $10.00 or 90 days in jail."

Another case was dealt with Sunday at 6:30 p. m. when we arrested Zenon P. Lapinickas in Farmington Township for obstructing traffic while under the influence of intoxicants. We placed him under arrest and took him before Justice Fredinburg. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 65 days in the Oakland County jail and pay a fine of $10 or serve 90 days in jail."

Traffic jams are common on Sundays and holidays and we find that often a slow-moving vehicle is as severe a menace to traffic as fast and reckless driving. For example, last Sunday a traffic jam was caused by the parking of two automobiles at the side of the road for the purpose of changing tires. We gave the car drivers of these two cars orders to pull off the road.

In the future in order to make travel safe we will be compelled to give orders to move faster to those cars which crawl along and block traffic, causing other cars to leave the line on the narrow roadway for the purpose of getting ahead of the slackers, thus creating a dangerous situation and many times causing a complete blockade of travel.

We would appreciate the courtesy if people would notify us at Farmington of abandoned cars on highways.

Little Catherine Banfield is gaining slowly, but is still under the care of two trained nurses. She has had a severe struggle with scarlet fever.

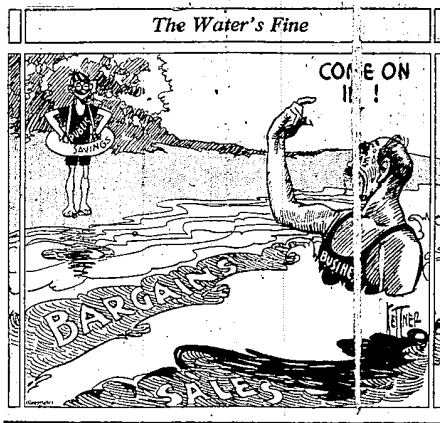

We can hear the familiar whistle of the threshing machine which tells us that summer is on the wane, but guess nobody cares if that means cooler weather.

The Walter O. Brown construction company is progressing finely with the cement road south of town. They have taken off the grading teams and put a steam shovel to work.

Mr. Butterfield and daughter, who have purchased the old M. E. church property, are occupying the home of the late Oscar Smith, preparatory to building their new home. Mr. Butterfield and his daughter are artists and architects of note, and Farmington is fortunate in having them locate here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tusher and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Binkley of Detroit, daughters of Fred Westfall spent the week-end at the home of their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Binkley have just returned from a trip to Kentucky. They made the trip in a little speedster, visiting with the former's friends and relatives.

Farmers report a peculiar condition in the corn crop this year. Owing to the moisture and extreme heat corn has grown very fast, making it brittle, so that in cultivating it or even walking thru it, the stalks will break off. A strong wind would surely be disastrous to the cornfields.

Youth

Not theirs to question or to hesitate
When once they hear the challenge and the call;
Not theirs the doubting mood that like a pall
Lies on our hearts. They question not their fate,
Nor are they wise like us to speculate
Of loss or gain. Like flame consuming they
Their answer make and laughing march away.
To new-born worlds their lives are dedicate.

And we, O God, shall we no longer dare
To follow waving banners of a dream?
Shall we not still their questing spirit share
In high adventure faithful to the gleam?

O God of Youth, when Thy far bugles blow,
Gird Thou our sinews and our souls to go!

Work of Mound Builders—Indians

IMMENSE STONE FOUND

Located on what appears to be a natural mound on the Lathrup farm rests a twenty-ton stone, in the shape of a perfect heart. This stone, or more correctly speaking, this formation consisting of hundreds of smaller stones was first noticed by Mr. Lathrup Tuesday.

He has the reputation of being a keen observer of topography and formation of nature's products. His attention was first attracted by the peculiar shape of the huge boulder. On closer scrutiny he discovered that the heart shaped rock was formed of other stones and rocks and that the formation was a perfect heart.

Mr. Lathrup is interested in finding out the history of this curiosity.

Henry Ford Fick

Good Company

Takes Outing with President Harding.

A party of notables were camping out over the week-end, as ordinary every-day folks camp, mosquitoes and everything.

President Warren G. Harding, Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and Firestone fraternized together over the last week-end.

President Harding has lost none of his boyish love for people, a trait which seems to distinguish the president from ordinary men.

It seems good to read of the President doing just the ordinary every day people love to do. This trait distinguishes the President as what the boys would call a regular fellow—who, while not lasing in dignity by doing ordinary commonplace things, the President dignifies the common place things of life and makes them seem more worth while.

C. C. Young, Director of State Laboratories Makes Report

SWIMMING IS SAFE

July 22, 1921, C. C. Young of the State Laboratories sent a report out of the tests made of the Walled Lake water, in which report tests of both the deep and shallow water were made. The report indicates that the water of Walled Lake is safe for swimming purposes. This report relieves the cottagers and resorters from the worry that had been caused by the widespread report recently circulated relative to this body of water.

Bertraw Groves Given Military Burial

World War Veterans Make Impressive Showing

ALL FARMINGTON ATTENDS LAST RITES

People from all walks of life turned out to do honor to the memory of Bertraw Groves, soldier of the World war and former prominent Farmington township resident, on Saturday afternoon. Bertraw Groves was one of those typical American youths who did not hesitate to answer the call to arms when the United States entered the lists to fight Kaiserism which threatened the foundation of our government, and the safety of the free peoples of the earth.

The march to the Farmington cemetery with measured tread in a column of twos. Norman Lee, Howard Eisenlord, Ernest Greshover, Carl A. Goers Hugo Schauder and Mr. Smith acted as pallbearers. These soldiers and Bertraw Groves were members of Co. A, 125 Infantry, 63 Brigade, 32nd Division, First Army Corps. Geo. Miller of Redford, acting Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, read the ritual rites over the body of the dead comrade.

Bertraw Groves, Killed in Action France, August 7, 1918

It was such spirit as his which makes the United States the home of the brave and the land of the free. Rome fell because their citizens sat upon their flesh pots instead of answering the call of flag and country, the majority of men in this nation placed themselves on the altar of liberty that future generations might look back and say the spirit of Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Patrick Henry, Light Horse Harry Lee, Mad Anthony Wayne, Abraham Lincoln, Farragut, Grant, and Roosevelt still lives.

Thirty ex-service men in regulation uniforms, each man with the bearing of a well-trained soldier, headed by the color bearers, led

Ernest Greshover and Mark Owen assisted in the ritualistic work about thirty Farmington and Redford ex-service men acted as a body guard and a firing squad flanked the hearse. Mr. Heeney made the funeral arrangements, assisted by Howard Eisenlord and Norman Lee. Rev. S. D. Eva read the burial service.

Bertraw Groves was killed in the Chateau Thierry sector at the second battle of the Marne at the Aisne-Marne offensive. He entered the service April the 29th, 1917. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ada Groves and two brothers, Garner of Detroit, and Harold of this village.
