They Liked Lettles.
Owing to the fineness of the Celtic tribes for the lack their descendants, the Welsh retain it as an emblem of their nationality. The leek or leek was an important vegetable and the Anglo-Saxons called their gardens “leek gardens.”

Australian Cannibals.
Cannibals, apparently, has its refinements. In north Australia there are certain cannibal tribes who make a practice of eating their slain friends but not their enemies—a habit which ought not to conduce to friendliness.
