As his hand came within the sector of his gaze, leveled on the unfathoumble distance, he observed that the fingers held a sheet of printed paper; and he remembered Florence. My Soul by Plorence Atwater

When my heart is dreary.
Then my soul is weary.
As a bird with a broken wing.
Who never again will sing.
Like the sound of a vast amen.
That comes from a church of men.

When my soul is dreary Is could never be cheery Fur I think of my ideal and everything seems real Like the sound of the bright church bells peal.
