SHOULD CONSIDER THE
FUTURE.

At the forth-coming village election Farmington people will be given an opportunity of giving their support to the movement that has been inaugurated by the village council for the improvement of the village water system, and the matter should be given careful consideration by every citizen, especially by those who feel the bonds ought not to be voted at this time. The proposed improvements will insure an adequate water supply at all times and sufficient pressure to care for a fire any time whether the electric pumps are in readiness or not. With no adequate source of supply it was necessary to operate the pumps longer than it would have been necessary had the village possessed a storage tank from which water might have been drawn. To operate the pumps continually costs money, and then there is always the danger that the pumps will give out just at the time they are needed most.

The village can well afford to take on this additional expense because it will insure a never-failing water supply and that is something we must have or suffer the consequences. And now is a good time to make plans to insure a good supply of water during the long, hot months of summer.

A MAN'S CRED.

To respect my country, my profession and myself. To be honest and fair with my fellowmen, to expect them to be honest and square with me. To be a loyal citizen of the United States. To speak of it with praise and act always as a trustworthy, custodian of its good name. To be a man whose name carries weight wherever it goes.

To base my expectations of reward on a solid foundation of re-vice rendered. To be willing to pay the price of success in honest effort. To look upon my work as an opportunity to be seized with joy and made the most of, and not as painful drudgery to be reluctantly endured.

To remember that success lies within myself—my own brain, my own ambition, my own courage and determination. To expect difficulties and to force my way thru them. To turn hard experience into capital for future use.

To believe in my proposition, heart and soul. To carry an air of optimism in the presence of these I meet. To dispel ill-temper with cheerfulness, kill doubts with a strong conviction, and reduce active friction with an agreeable personality.

To make a study of my business.
To know my profession in every detail. To mix brains with my efforts, and use system and method in my work. To find time to do every useful thing by never letting time find me doing nothing.

To board days as a miser hoards dollars. To make every hour bring me dividends, increased knowledge or healthful recreation.
To keep my future unimpaired by debts. To save as well as earn.
To cut out expensive amusements until I can afford them. To avoid dissipation, to guard my health of body and peace of mind as a precious sacred treasure.

Finally to take a good grip on the joys of life. To play the game like a man. To fight against nothing so hard as my own weaknesses, and endeavor to grow in strength, a gentleman, a Christian.

So may I be courteous to men, faithful to friends, true to God, a fragrance in the path I tread.
—Author Unknown—

The author of the above is well known, but he preaches a gospel that would be of value to all if properly heard. Especially worthy of consideration is this creed in these days when everybody is dissatisfied with their job or their position. All seem to feel and think the other fellow has the snap. All seem to feel and think the other fellow is receiving more for his services and hence we are discontented, dissatisfied.

WHAT IS ADVERTISING?

A slick guy with a smooth line of talk, greasy hair, pressed pants and a big card printed in three colors, seems to be an excellent combination to separate business houses from $3 to $10 for box space in a pasteboard card after the aforementioned slick guy tells you it is advertising. Don't believe it. It is not even charity.
It is just as much advertising as a shell game is an investment. He has no interest in your community or your business. His sole and only interest is in your money and you will find him perfectly willing to add one lie to another to entice your interest, for he will not see you again after he has closed up on the town and taken the train out.

Sometimes it is a thingamajig that he is going to hang on every telephone in the county, and other times it may be some new Wallingford folder that will gain the attention of even more than the greasy hair and pressed pants.
They have an excellent line of talk, these fellows. They have to have, for that is what they live on. Ever hear of a business man who had to enlarge his store, or of a town that doubled its trade territory, as a result of this kind of advertising? I never did so and I do not believe that one of the slick guys did either.

But I know of several towns that have had phenomenal progress and of thousands of others that are being boosted as a result of advertising through the home town paper.—Quincy Herald.

The amount of money that was resulted in by the business firms of this town for a calendar would have carried a page advertisement in this paper for about four weeks. Candidly now, which do you think would have been the best investment for the advertiser, for the town and for the whole community?

A whole lot of the calendars are still at this office waiting for some one to distribute them.

STATE FRUIT GROWERS ADOPT VARIETY LIST.

A list of standard varieties for the commercial fruit grower of Michigan has recently been adopted by the Michigan State Horticultural society, on recommendation of its experimental committee.

Believing that too many varieties were being grown in the state, with the result that efficient marketing of "standard" varieties was impossible and that fruits not adapted to certain localities were being raised, the society delegated its special committee to make a careful study of the field with the idea of reducing the multiplicity of kinds grown. Representative growers from different sections and specialists from the M. S.
C. horticultural department were included on this committee.

The apples recommended for commercial growers are: Wealthy, Jonathan, Grimes (double-worked), Mc-Intosh, Fameuse (Snow), Rhode Island Greening, Red Canada (Steele Red), Hyslop, C. B. Doan (these are limited to southwestern Michigan), the Spy to southern and central Michigan, and the Wagner to northwestern Michigan.

The Elberta peach was the only variety recommended for commercial planting in the state. Pears include: Bartlett, Kieffer, and Bosc for general planting, and the Clapp, Howell and Bosc, together with the above varieties, for planting in southwestern Michigan.

DAIRY FACTS

COW-TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

Where Organized a Decided Improvement Has Been Noted in Quality of Dairy Herds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The practice of testing cows to determine their milk and butter-fat production and feed consumption by means of cow-testing associations has become widespread. There are now 452 associations of this kind in the United States, besides many in foreign countries. In most cases each association has one tester and no more cows than can be well handled, but there are some very large ones and some that are much smaller than the standard. The theoretical number of members in a cow-testing association is 25, which makes one member for the tester to visit each working day of the month. A member of such an association is supposed to have not more than 50 cows, as that makes a large day's work. If every member had that number, there would be 750 cows in the association, but few of them have that many.

There is no definite relation between the number of members in an association and the number of cows owned.
In California there is one association that tests 4,000 cows and another that tests 4,000, and the number of members are, respectively, 50 and 100. Another in the same state has 80 members and only 1,900 cows; there are 32 associations in California with over 1,000 cows each. Ordinarily the number of cows in an association runs from 500 to 550, the average, for the country being 425. The number of herds is average 24.8. To have more than one tester is a California practice, and one association in that state has three. In contrast to the large associations in California and a few elsewhere, there are some that are quite small. One in Massachusetts has 9 members and 125 cows; another in Kansas has 10 members and 85 cows; and in Michigan there is one with 4 herds and only 45 cows.

The use of co-operative cow-testing associations has resulted in great improvement in the quality of the dairy cows in the localities where they have been organized by reason of the sitting out of the low producers and the discovery of good cows that might otherwise have been sacrificed.

The United States Department of Agriculture collects statistics of all the cow-testing associations and issues a directory of all of these that are active on July 1 each year. It also assists in the organization of associations working through the county agent if there is one in the community.

The following Japanese proverbs, compiled by Akimoto Shun, appeared in the New York Independent: Women admire women of their own type.
Women who seek liberty too often lose it.
"New" women like created to replace good women.
If you want to love women, begin by spending money.
Pride goes before a fall, especially in beautiful women.
Men laugh with their hearts, women only with their mouths.
Women and mountains should be looked on at a distance.
Poisonous flies carry shiny rings, but women pretty faces.
"Is women who know they are ugly that powder their faces." Men who like to take photos with their wives are heckled.
Women fall in love with their protectors, men with women.

language bite your tongue out.
The secret of winning the woman who jilts you is—perseverance.

Men who neither brag nor flatter
