Holland—Colonel Earl R. Stewart of Lansing was elected president of the Michigan State Sons of the Revolution, at the annual meeting in Holland.

Benton Harbor—The Berrien County Highway commission has opened a campaign in conjunction with the sheriff's office against the destruction of highways by overloaded motor trucks.

Grand Ledge—Fourteen registered Holstein cows and several calves were burned to death in a fire, which destroyed three barns on the farm of J. B. Strang, near here. A large quantity of hay also was burned.

Albion—Donald Parks of Battle Creek has been elected president of the Albion College freshmen class for this semester, with Lola Manning of Lansing as vice-president and Thos Jenks, Traverse City, secretary.

Mourne—Petitions were recently signed by 300 laborers, asking business to reduce the price of necessities. Mourne merchants say they are willing to make cuts if a solution to the "poor business" condition can be found.

Mourne—Road commissioners fixed the following scale of wages per hour for employees during the year: foremen 50 cents, truck drivers 35 cents, laborers 30 cents. According to program mapped out work on 68 good roads is to be started in 1922.

Sturgis—Although their mail wagon was buried 50 feet by a Michigan Central train, two miles east of Sturgis, Elmer and Lloyd Myers, Sturgis rural mail carriers, escaped with slight injuries. The wagon was demolished and mail and money scattered.

Flint—More than $1,000,000 was left by the will of the late Robert J. Whaley, bank president, lumberman and Flint business man, for the erection of a house for orphaned children. Relatives were left legacies (estimated at about $100,000. Mr. Whaley had a great love for children.

Flint—Clemens-Papers were served on E. A. Frost of Armada by Sheriff John Spiller in a $25,000 damage slander suit begun in the circuit court by William P. Rosso, chairman of the county road commission. Mr. Rosso claimed Frost was unjustly accused of misappropriating county funds.

Dowagiac—Circuit Judge J. B. Desroches sentenced Edward Reed, farmer, to Jackson prison for six months following his conviction under the prohibition law. Of the 15 gallons of whiskey at the Reed farm, Reed decided to turn them over to the sheriff, sold him the rum they later dug up in his yard.

Lansing—A report submitted to the State Administrative Board by Earl T. Murray, director of the State Welfare Department, showed an inmate population of 14,517 in state institutions at the end of January, as compared with 13,700 in 1921. The report also showed 1,650 inmates are employed. Thirty-one escapes were recorded from all institutions during the month.

Port Austin—After the Port Austin Electric company set a price of $15,000 on its plant, and the public utility commission roughly estimated it to be worth $15,000, and that it would cost $17,000 to replace, the village council did not act on the resolution to permit the people to vote on bond issue for $15,000 for the purchase. Henry Schlegel, a company official, said he would withdraw if offer.

Kalamazoo—Bankruptcies of the Michigan bankruptcy laws to prevent honest merchants from the possibility of losing their business wrecked wantonly at the will of a "few heartless creditors" was demanded in an address here by Frank D. Scotts—Jumping from the truck on which she was riding, while it was starting, Mrs. John Thompson, wife of a retired merchant, was killed instantly when the momentum of the machine hurled her violently against a brace, breaking her neck. She was driving a truck to a sister living in the country when the driver of a passing truck invited her to ride. The sister was waiting at the gate to welcome her when the fatal accident occurred.

Cheboygan—Another use for the radio has been found by the Kresnan Lumber Co. of Johnstown, Drummond Island. The radio is used by the company for dispatching and receiving mail. Ordinarily it takes several days for the mail of the company to go from Johnstown via the Soo to the mainland Michigan. To obviate this the company has installed a radio station at Cheboygan. The local radio operator, forwards the letters from and direct replies mailed to Cheboygan.

Adrian—Henry Ford was in Adrian consulting with his engineers regarding a proposed change in the route of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, owned by him, which would run the main line of the railroad in a southwesterly direction across the new country from a point in or near Dundee to a point north of Morenci. This would shorten the haul from Detroit across Lenawee county, by about seven miles, and would eliminate difficult curves and grades in and about Adrian. The route through Adrian would be retained as a branch.

The Problem
The problem of civilization is to keep alive a sufficient number of individuals who cannot and will not be subjected to machine, or to the rigors of training, a non-explosive, pliable men who give, but who cannot be milked, who are neither afraid of, nor yoked under ideas—
