

Lest We Forget

The great war is over. The soldier boys are back home. They went out and fought our battles for us. They left home, school, job, and quickly adjusted themselves to the big job of fighting.

Now that they are back, let us not become unmindful of the service they rendered. Our Bank is proud of the Legion boys and stands ready to render any service possible, as it has always done with the mature soldier of the war with Spain, or the old boys of the Civil war. They are heroes all, in our estimation. If we have not been of service to you, possibly it is because you have not given us the chance.

ELECTRICITY

—The Burden Bearer—

Whether in the shop or in the home—ELECTRICITY awaits your bidding. No task too large—None too small—for this master servant. ELECTRICITY has lightened tremendously the tiring labor of the home. ELECTRIC APPLIANCES easily operated have replaced the old time hand methods, bringing convenience to the home. Cost nothing to see—Cost little to buy, and little to operate.
