

Treat Seed Potatoes
And Stop Big Losses
 That heavy losses in the Michigan potato crop, suffered annually through inroads of disease, can be almost entirely eliminated by proper seed treatment. It is the statement of Dr. G. H. Coons, plant pathologist at the Michigan Agricultural College.
 Scab, black scurf, and black leg are the three diseases which levy heavy toll annually on the state crop. The diseases are carried to the field on potato seed which has not been treated.
 "This loss is almost entirely preventable," says Dr. Coons. "Given a high grade of seed stock, properly carried through the winter and properly treated, a perfect stand should result with normal weather. The method of treatment is simple, cheap, and easy, and it insures not only stand but also good quality."
 Potatoes are treated by soaking them for from one-half to one and one-half hours in a solution of four ounces of corrosive sublimate dissolved in thirty gallons of water. The solution must be strengthened from time to time during the treatment.
 Corrosive sublimate (mercury bichloride) is deadly poison, and the solution used for dipping is poison. Every care must be used to prevent accident.
 Detailed information on potato treatment may be had from county agricultural agents or from the botany department, M. A. C., at East Lansing.

Sweet Clover Proves Value as Hay Crop
 Proving its value as a pasture and hay crop, and as a soil builder, sweet clover is rapidly gaining recognition among Michigan farmers, according to C. R. McGee of the Michigan Agricultural College crops department.
 Once classed as a weed, this crop is now esteemed highly. During the past season, when June grass was cut short by the drought, sweet clover produced abundant pasture on a number of Michigan farms, where observations were made by the college authorities. Tests at the college experiment station also brought out the value of the crop for feeding, it being shown that stock soon learn to like it as a pasture.
 When properly handled, sweet clover hay contains practically as much digestible protein as other legume hays. As a soil builder, sweet clover ranks high. It will produce considerable growth on soils that are deficient in available plant food and organic matter, where alfalfa and red clover usually fail. It does not do well on acid soils, however.
 In securing a stand of sweet clover, the use of lime, inoculation and a firm, well compacted seed bed should not be overlooked.
 Ample seed of northern grown sweet clover is available for Michigan farmers at a considerably cheaper price than now prevails for clover and alfalfa.

Pleasant Afternoon.
 On Friday afternoon about 20 little playmates gathered at the home of Fred Newman to help Miss Gladys celebrate her ninth birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in playing games, and music, and a birthday dinner was served. The birthday cake with nine candles was the centerpiece. The young people had a glorious time and at five o'clock returned to their homes, a tired but happy bunch.

LOCAL NEWS.
 Supt. A. G. Leonard with the local debating team, Dorothy Wixom, Harmon Boice and Frazer Hultz leave this afternoon for Ann Arbor to hear the final state debate which takes place in University hall tonight.
 Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayden and Mrs. George Frostie of Lansing Sunday spent Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stamann. Mrs. Wilder and Mrs. Stamann accompanied them home. Mrs. Stamann returning Wednesday.
 James Emerson spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dock. He was on his way home from his brother's funeral at Philadelphia. Mr. Emerson is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Lock and is now on his way to Manitoba where he owns a ranch.
 Mrs. Leonard entertained ten little girls and their teacher, Miss Stutting, from the kindergarten room on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her little daughter, Sara Ada's sixth birthday. After playing games they were called to the dining room for ice cream and party. Birthday cake. After partaking of this Mrs. Leonard took them in her car to their homes.
 Franklyn Whipple left last week for Honor, returning Tuesday noon, accompanied by Mrs. Whipple. They drove the 340 miles in their Ford and were able to acquire some sunburned faces and lame backs. Mrs. Whipple left Tuesday evening for Detroit to remain until the arrival of their household gods. They will reside in the farmer apartments over the Warner Dairy company offices.
