

6,000,000TH FORD BUILT MAY 18TH

Four out of Five Ford Cars and Trucks Sold Since 1908 Still in Operation.

The six millionth Model "T" Ford Motor was produced May 18th, in the Ford factory at Detroit. In other words, from the time back in 1908 when the Ford Motor Company began marketing the now famous Model "T" motor car until May 18, 1922, a total of six million Ford cars and trucks have been produced. Out of this total 5,517,956 were delivered to purchasers in the United States alone, and according to the latest statistics, 4,478,243 of those Ford cars and trucks are still in daily service.

Thus it will be seen that out of every five Ford cars and trucks sold to retail purchasers in the United States alone during the past fourteen years, four are still in actual use, which is really remarkable when the hard service of commercial cars is taken into consideration. This seems to forcibly confirm the popular knowledge of the longevity of Ford cars.

That Ford products have been quite evenly distributed throughout the United States is borne out by the fact that thru the sparsely settled communities in the West to the densely populated cities in the East, practically the same ratio of Ford cars and trucks to population exists.

Ohio leads with a total of 290,769 Ford cars and trucks in daily use; Illinois comes second; Pennsylvania third; Texas fourth; and Michigan fifth, with a total of 234,018. New York, Iowa and California follow in the order named, each having more than 200,000.

An idea of the important part played by Ford cars and trucks in the daily transportation of goods and persons in the United States can be gained by realization of the fact that with the Ford cars now in operation, averaging a minimum of 5,000 miles per year each, they would pile up a total of twenty-five billion transportation miles—equivalent to more than a million trips around the world.

Stealing Farmer's Milk.

Stephen Armstrong, a farmer living two miles west and a half mile north of Novi, through friends this morning reported to county authorities that unknown persons are stealing his daily shipments of milk from the stand in front of his farm. Each of several times two 10 gallon cans of milk billed to the Warner Dairy Co., of Farmington, have been stolen, it is alleged. The authorities are investigating.—Pontiac Press.

Having Fine Trip.

A letter from Fred M. Warner written from Seattle, Wash., tells briefly of the very delightful outing the Warners had in California, where they visited a number of former Farmington, Northville and Novi people. After spending about thirty days in Los Angeles they visited the wonderful Yosemite National Park near Modesto, and then proceeded to San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma and on to Seattle. The past week they spent at Victoria and Vancouver, British Columbia, and from the latter city they sailed for a trip to Alaska, intending to go as far as Skagway.

While in Southern California the Warners had the pleasure of visiting with Mr. Steers, Will Elv, F. E. Quigley and wife, A. M. Kims and other former residents of this section.

Mr. Warner expressed his deep regret upon learning of the death of George Newbound, of Novi. They expect to return to Michigan by July 1st.

State Police Busy.

Trooper Eaton of the local detachment of state police arrested Alexander Charney Sunday, May 28th, on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. It is alleged that Charney threw sulphuric acid in the face of Nick Shavash of 4236 Russell St, Detroit, who was rushed to a hospital. Charney was taken before Justice Northrop of Redford who set the man's bond at $500 which was not furnished.

Sidney W. Hurlbert of Highland Mich., was arrested by Sgt. Doyle on Tuesday, May 30, for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Sgt. Doyle found the car in the ditch 3 miles west of Farmington, on the Grand River road, and upon investigation it is reported found the man sound asleep alongside the car in the grass. He was taken before Justice LeFevre of Clarenceville who fined him $50 and $5 costs, which he paid.

SOLDIER DEAD ARE REMEMBERED

War Veterans—Both Living and Dead—Are Honored on Memorial Day

Once again a grateful nation stopped in its race for money and business building to pay its tribute to the memory of those who gave themselves in service to their beloved country. People in all walks of life vied with one another to do honor to the memory of those who gave their lives in three great wars. With minds and hearts attuned to the spirit of the occasion people gathered from far and near to observe Memorial Day—the one day of all the year upon which Americans delight to hallow the memory of those who died that our nation might remain a union of states; of those who rescued Cuba from the tyranny of Spain and the cruelty of a Western empire; of the number who died that the double-headed eagle of Prussian autocracy should not menace American institutions and American freedom.

In keeping with other communities Farmington paid its tenderest tribute to those who are sleeping their last long sleep in Oak Wood cemetery, as well as to those who yet remain as citizens of this community. The silent city was never more beautiful than it was upon Memorial Day this year. Flags fluttered in the gentle May breeze and the mounds where sleep our soldier dead were bedecked with fairest flowers, as were also countless other graves in which loved ones are peacefully at rest. The weather could not have been more ideal for such an occasion and all nature seemed to be in harmony with the sacred festival.

The memorial services at the Methodist church on Sunday morning were well attended. There is six veterans of the Civil war still living, around this locality, and five were in attendance and given seats of honor. Services throughout were most impressive and inspiring. The sermon by Rev. Sidney Eva was full of uplifting and inspiring thoughts. The splendid audience and the solemnity of the occasion seemed to inspire the speaker who gave a masterful address in which he made a special plea for the highest ideals of citizenship. The special music, the decorations and the inspiring address made a deep impression by all who attended the services.

The business places of the village closed at noon and the afternoon was given over to a proper observance of the day. The exercises were held at the town hall and were well attended.

The annual Decoration day exercises were held as usual with the marching of the school children to the cemetery at one o'clock, the placing of flowers on the graves of the soldiers of the Civil war in Oakwood cemetery, and the annual decorating of the Cenotaph to the unknown dead, and counter-marching to the town hall where the day's program by the children of the lower grades, conducted by Miss Collier, was given, for which the two or three members of the Civil war, who were present and who constituted the small remnant remaining of the once prosperous G. A. R. Post of Farmington, and who extend their thanks to all who gave them help and assistance.

Gasoline Prices Advancing.

Just how the matter was figured out is immaterial as far as the interested folks are concerned, but it is certain that gasoline prices are on the upward grade, with the indications that the autists will pay a plenty before the end of the season.

Following the usual system, the boosting will be done at the rate of one cent per gallon, but with much uncertainty.

"A Certain Rich Man" Wm. Allen White's famous story will be the Movie feature at the M. E. Community Hall next Tuesday, also first episode of western serial "The White Eagle."

Dinner Was An Enjoyable Affair.

It was really to be had that a larger number of Farmington men and boys could not have been present at the dinner given at the Methodist church on Monday evening. They would not only have enjoyed the bountiful dinner served, but they would also have enjoyed the fine services rendered by the young men who served the guests. But while other conflicting dates, somewhat interfered with the attendance the lack of a crowd did not lessen in any degree the good fellowship of the occasion. The dinner was all that could have been desired and the young men who served the "feed" did splendidly.

After the guests had all partaken of the good things prepared, the company was called to order by Rev. Sidney Eva, who introduced the guests. Henry M. Leland of Detroit was the first to respond to the toast-master's very cordial introduction and he gave an inspiring talk upon the theme of "The righteousness and better citizenship, relating some incidents that have come under his own observation to drive home his message. A. C. Woodbridge also of Detroit, and a son-in-law of Mr. Leland sang two numbers and he was given hearty applause. Jack Miner, the boy and bird lover, who gave an address in the auditorium of the church later in the evening was next introduced and he made an appeal in behalf of the boys and young men of the community, and told of some of the things he was doing for the young fellows of his home town and of his splendid results obtained.

Little Girl Struck by Auto.

On Wednesday afternoon as Mary, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Spicer, was returning from school, she ran across the street directly in front of an approaching automobile, driven by George Stearns of Jackson. The child was taken to a Pontiac hospital, where she died at 9:30. The driver after making a statement, was held blameless.

The family is in straitened circumstances as the father has been ill for some time and one son is in the hospital for treatment. Funeral services will be held Saturday at two o'clock in the afternoon with burial at Oakwood cemetery.

Five Graduates at Walled Lake.

The baccalaureate service of the graduating class of the Walled Lake High School, was held in the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening.

During the prelude which was played by Miss Edith Bentley, the members of the class, accompanied by the principal of the school, Mrs. Frankie L. Patton, were ushered to their places by Miss Irene Young.

A solo was sung by Miss Dora Lair, and Rev. F. A. Brass acted the speaker of the evening.

The graduates are: Miss Hazel Cahoon, president; Nita Shear, secretary; Camilla Hoyt, Evangelist Bentley and Ethel Hess.

The graduation exercises will be held in the Methodist church Friday evening. The members of the class will present their program, and Rev. Sidney D. Eva of Farmington, will deliver the address.—Pontiac Press.

Templars Visited Milford.

Northville Commandery, K. T., to which many Farmington men belong, attended a session day services at Milford on Sunday, about fifty-five members being in line. After the services at the church, which were addressed by Rev. L. S. Brooke the members and their wives were served a bountiful dinner, ranks were formed and headed by the Milford band the commandery marched to the cemetery where a number of graves of departed members were decorated. After returning to the village an exhibition drill was given which was witnessed by a large crowd.

The visitors were royally entertained by Milford people and the welcome extended.

L. W. Goodenough is in the hospital again for treatment.

A BIG CROWD ATTENDS CEREMONY

Walled Lake Laid Corner Stone For New Consolidated School Saturday.

Saturday was an ideal day and for the people of Walled Lake the day marked an epoch in the life and advancement of the entire community. In the afternoon the corner stone for Walled Lake's consolidated school building was laid with impressive ceremonies and a large crowd was present to give their approval to the exercises of the day. The handsome new building will be located on a five-acre tract of land lying between the business section proper and the railway and when completed will be a structure to which every citizen may point to with feelings of personal pride. The building is of fire-proof construction and is 140x120 feet in size, two stories and basement, and in its arrangement nothing has been omitted that would in any way add to its adaptability and efficiency for school needs. There will be an auditorium and a gymnasium. The basement will be nine feet in the clear and the ceilings on the first and second floors will be 12 feet, the ceiling in the gymnasium being 21 feet. The exterior of the building is handsome red brick and in all its appointments it will represent the "last word" in school architecture. The new building is the first consolidated school building to be erected in Oakland county, and its erection places Walled Lake in the lead of her neighbors.

Under the direction of Roy Coe, as marshal of the day, the procession formed down-town about three o'clock and headed by the Cass Tech High school band of Detroit, marched to the school grounds. Members of the board of education who have worked faithfully and diligently for the erection of the new building—Glenn Buffmyer, F. J. Schmidt, Bert Welfare, William Campbell, and Ray Riley—led the procession and they were followed by school children, Nilicia Grotto of Pontiac in brilliant uniforms, members of Commerce Lodge F. & A. M., and citizens. Upon arrival at the grounds the band played a selection or two and then the assemblage was called to order by President Glenn Buffmyer of the board of education, who announced the program of the afternoon.

Rev. F. A. Brass offered prayer, and at its conclusion the audience joined in singing "America," being accompanied by the band. Rev. Sidney Eva of Farmington, was introduced as the first speaker and in opening his inspiring and up-lifting address he declared his desired first to congratulate the people of Walled Lake upon the advance step they have taken in providing the splendid new building which marked a new achievement for the whole community. He told of the great benefits to be secured from the public school and expressed the hope that other villages and townships might follow the example set by Walled Lake and thus provide for the boys and girls of our rural communities the very highest advantages and the greatest benefits and blessings during their school years.

Brief talks were given by Prof. Ford, assistant superintendent of public instruction; John Andrews of the Oakland county commissioner of schools office; Buren E. Mills, architect; W. W. Blackney of Flint; Alfred H. Upton, who is to be the superintendent of the school, and Mr. Wesson, representing the contractors. All spoke very highly of the fine community spirit displayed in the erection of such a building and Messrs. Mills and Wesson especially commended the members of the school board for their zeal in behalf of the project and for their efforts to secure the very best building possible for the money expended.

Charles Richmond, worshipful master of the Commerce Lodge, F. & A. M., took charge of the ceremonies of laying the corner stone. In the box which was placed in the stone there were numerous documents deposited and when the invitation was given for all who desired to contribute something to the box many responded.

Little Lucille Mercer displayed her patriotism by offering the little flag she had carried in the parade. As the workers lowered the stone in place Rev. Sayles offered prayer.

A ball game between the married and single men and other sports closed the festivities of the afternoon.

Members of the Walled Lake Embroidery Club established a booth on the grounds from which refreshments were generously served. Ira Carnes could not keep out of the booth, of course because he desired that everybody should have a good time and plenty to eat and drink.

It was really a great day for Walled Lake and for the surrounding country.

Messrs. Howard Warner and Edgar S. Pierce represented the Farmington Chamber of Commerce at the ceremonies.

Ladies Literary Club

The last regular meeting of the L. L. C. was held Wednesday, May 24th, at the home of Imogene Bicking, 21 members being present.

The program was as follows: Proverbs, Sayings and Superstitions—Bertha Steele.

Influence of Individuals, one upon the other—Katherine Sprague.

The Problem and Moral of the play—Esther Boynton.

An open discussion followed, in which all had a part.

Club adjourned to meet for Presidents Day with Bertha Steele Wednesday, June 7th. Members are requested to respond to roll call with a short funny anecdote. Also to meet at F. L. Cook's store at 2:15 where conveyances will take them to the Steele Farm.

Auto and Truck Meet.

Wednesday morning a light car coming down Grand River met a truck on the corner of Division street with usual results. A little paint scratched from the truck and a fender and radiator damaged on the light car. Both drivers disclaimed responsibility for the accident.

Noted Many Changes.

Mrs. Nellie Bloomer Field of Lansing spent from Sunday until Tuesday night with old friends in Farmington. Her father E. R. Bloomer, started The Enterprise and was its publisher for twelve years, during which time Mrs. Field assisted in the office part of the time. She made this office a fraternal call Monday afternoon, just to see how the old place looked. She noted many changes and complimented upon the improved appearance of the office and newspaper. She had not visited Farmington for 20 years and was wonderfully surprised and pleased at the changes and improvements that have taken place during the intervening years. Miss Vera Blanchard also of Lansing accompanied her and visited her parents.

Holsteins Listed In Test Record.

Records come thick and fast on the Carpenter Farm. This week two cows, owned by H. J. Carpenter of Wayne, are listed with creditable records in the latest official bulletin from the office of Malcolm H. Gardner, Del., Wisconsin, Superintendent of advanced registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

His best cow, Calamity Aggie Pieterje, at the age of seven years and one month, produced 617.9 lbs. of milk and 21,009 lbs. of butter fat, in seven days, equivalent to 26.2 lbs. of butter.

His other cow, Emily Canary Nig De Kol, made a record in seven days at the age of two years and ten months of 423.3 lbs. of milk and 15,443 lbs. of butter fat, equivalent to 19.3 lbs. of butter.

Harold Wescott spent Memorial day at Webberville.
