"I believe in giving everything its due and I want to say right now I just can't praise Tanlac too highly for what it has done in my case," declared James P. Humphreys, proprietor of the Hebron Motor Co., Hebron, Md.

"For three years or more I suffered from indigestion. After eating I would feel terribly with gas and my heart would palpitate until it interfered with my breathing. I was habitually constipated and my nerves were all upset. My sleep was unsteady, I got up mornings all tired out, and I was only a shadow of my former self.

"Well, Tanlac has given me a keen appetite, stomach trouble has disappeared, my nerves have steadied down, and I have gained several pounds. Tanlac, to my mind, is the best thing ever sold for stomach trouble and run-down condition."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Highway Improvement

FEDERAL HELP STRENGTHENS

Much More Accomplished for Country Than Simply Provide Funds for Construction.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Federal aid has come a great deal more for the country than simply to provide funds for road construction, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. One of the most far-reaching results has been its influence in placing the greater part of the highway work of the country in the hands of experienced engineers of state highway departments.

In 1915, prior to the federal-aid act, 70 per cent of the road work was done by agencies other than state highway departments, most of it by county officials. Such a system was bound to be wasteful. Overhead costs were high, engineers were not always employed, systems to serve the best interests of the state as a whole were not developed, and the opportunities for corruption were greater.

With the passage of the federal-aid act of 1916 and the insistence of the government upon the construction of federal-aid roads under the supervision of state departments, existing state highway departments were enlarged and strengthened, and to it states adequate departments have been created where there had been none or the existing one was not properly equipped to perform necessary functions.

With adequate departments the work has been shifted to their control until at the present time they supervise more than 60 per cent of the road work. This assures to the taxpayer the services of engineers trained in road work, a centralized authority responsible for the expenditure of funds, and a far-sighted plan of development and financing.

COMPILING COST OF PAVING

Figures Secured by Bureau of Public Roads Cover 68,000,000 Yards of Work.

Average costs per square yard of various types of paving for country roads have been compiled by the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The figures cover 68,000,000 square yards of paving constructed with federal aid in all parts of the United States during the period of 1916-21. The costs per square yard are as follows: Sand-clay, 18 cents; gravel, 46 cents; plain and surface-treated macadam, .95 cents; bituminous macadam, $2.10; bituminous concrete, $2.50; plain concrete, $2.57; reinforced concrete, $2.74; and brick, $4.10.

These figures cover only the cost of the paving; they do not include the cost of grading, and official price on the material. It must not be assumed that roads of the several types can be constructed in any locality at these figures. For example, the cost of bituminous concrete varied from $1.70 in the New England states to $3.15 in the group of states including Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama. In one group of states the cost of brick dropped to $2.40. Costs of constructing these types in the various groups of states have been compiled and can be obtained from the bureau.

HELPS TO SUSTAIN PRICES

One of the Big Factors in Construction of Good Roads Planned for the Coming Year.

One of the factors that will help to sustain farm prices is the large amount of road building planned for this year. The government will spend a larger sum for this purpose than ever before, and states and municipalities will cooperate to the extent of their financial abilities.

Money for Good Roads.

In Washington, a bill authorizing $140,000,000 for good roads for the next two years was recently passed in the house by a vote of 239 to 81. The measure provides that $55,000,000 shall be available by June 30, 1923, and $75,000,000 by June 30, 1924.

Good Roads in Quebec.

During 1921 the province of Quebec constructed 410 miles of road roads. More than 4,000 miles of highway are now being kept in perfect repair to Quebec province.

CHICAGO AGAIN CLAIMS LEAD

This Time It is for the Meanest Man, and He Surely Has "Some" Qualifications.

Another "meanest man" has been found. He was discovered in a north-bound elevated express. He had remained seated although a woman stood swaying on a strap in front of him. The train was standing at the Fuller avenue station when he jumped to his feet, apparently realizing suddenly that his destination had been reached. He started for the door.

When the man quit his seat it was, logically, taken by the woman. Not for long, however, did she hold it. A second later he was back—obviously having spotted the girl's name through the open door.

"Pardon me," he said, "it's wasn't my station."

And he allowed the woman to rise and give him the seat.—Chicago Journal.

CASE OF FORCIBLE ENTRY

Combination of Circumstances Responsible for Truly Embarrassing Situation.

A short time ago my husband and I attended the funeral of a friend whose home was in the suburbs. We left in plenty of time, but on account of the distance and much transferring we found to our dismay that we were going to be late.

After frequent delays we arrived at our station. There had been a heavy snowstorm the day before, and where the walks had been cleaned it was slippery, making it difficult to hasten.

When we reached the house, in hurrying up the outside stairs I slipped, lost my balance, and fell headlong. All might have been well had not the underlapper chosen just that moment to open the door. My husband was making a frantic grab to catch me, but I was not to be stopped, and landed in the room on all fours, to find the company all facing the door and the minister preaching the funeral sermon.

Whiskers Killed Her Love.

A divorce decree has been granted in Vienna because a wife objected that her husband, an ex-officer, did not shave or wash himself properly.

The official defender of the marriage bond appealed against the divorce, contending that soap and other toilet articles were now so dear that many wives were discontented with their husband's toilet.

The appeal court, however, decided that the couple were incompatible, and that if the marriage had not been mainly due to the glamour of uniform the wife would have condoned her husband's toilet economies.

Health is Wealth Itself

—and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.

The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.

Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.

This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is but for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Served with milk or cream Grape-Nuts is a complete food—and along with its nutritive qualities it is that wonderful flavor!
