RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Acceptance of the post of roll call director for Oakland county chapter by Mr. W. H. King of Pontiac, has been sent to Chicago headquarters of the national organization.

Township organizations are being perfected as rapidly as possible, consisting of a chairman, several captains and many solicitors, and the plan is to complete the canvass in each township in one day.

As soon as the chairman of the township feels the organization is ready and conditions right.

The Red Cross expended nearly one and one-half millions in disaster relief in the 9 states comprising the central division.

Millions went to the disabled ex-service men, 30,000 of whom are now in hospitals.

An army of Red Cross nurses are enrolled for service in the country.

Oakland county has a larger number of ex-service men to look after now than at any time before, the activities of the chapter will be confined mostly to this work the coming year, and this money will be used for home service work.

One dollar once a year, from each of its members helps the Red Cross to come to relief of millions of people.

There is no other place where your one dollar and one day's time will do so much for humanity, let us have the support of every citizen of the U. S. in this roll call.

MICHIGAN STANDS SIXTH MILK AND DAIRY PRODUCTS

The production of milk in Michigan last year according to a report by the United States department of agriculture, was little more than 3,000,000,000 pounds, most of which was used in the manufacture of various dairy products.

Practically 1,700,000,000 pounds were used in making butter two-thirds of it in creameries and the remainder on farms. More than 50,000,000 pounds were used in the manufacture of American, brick, cream, cottage and farm cheese.

Condensed, evaporated, and powdered milk required 209,000,000 pounds, and ice cream took in excess of 127,000,000 pounds.

About 850,000,000 pounds were consumed directly as whole milk, and 160,000,000 were fed to calves or lost on farms and in factories.

With this large production of milk and dairy products, Michigan stands sixth in products of the cow.

GROUSE MAKES HEARTY MEAL

Two Thousand Ross Beetles in One Day Said to Be Not a Menu Beyond Her Capacity.

Two thousand ross beetles in one day were on the menu of a hen grouse which was experimented with at Clark university at Worcester, Mass., and which Prof. Hugh Findlay told about in a lecture on "Useful Birds in Our Gardens and Orchards," given recently at the New York Botanical garden, Bronx park.

Professor Findlay, who is horticulturist in the department of agriculture at Columbia university, has spent several years in central New York and the New England states studying the habits of birds during the nesting season.

He has photographed some 200 birds in their natural haunts, and from these photographs he has developed studies which he has colored with Japanese transparent dyes. The birds range from the tiny humming bird to the great eagles, photographing and mounting them.

In his lecture, Professor Findlay showed some of our most destructive insects and their particular bird foes, showing plainly which species help to keep our plants, and trees from being destroyed by insect foes.

The hen grouse, who was proved to have made away with 2,000 ross beetles in one day, he used as an illustration of the economic value of some birds in the destruction of insect pests.

WHERE ALL SPEED IS ALIKE

Light, Electricity, X-Rays, and Magnetic Storms Declared to Move with Equal Velocity.

That in the realm rays we have an indication of a new and mysterious world of energy, we find what seems an impressive testimony in the law of velocity governing these in common with other recent discovered phenomena.

"One definite thing we do know," says Professor Soddy, writing of the ether, "namely, the velocity at which influences are transmitted. It is 185,000 miles per second, the speed of light. So far as we yet know, all influences that are transmitted by the ether travel at this one definite velocity.

Not only light, but also the electro-magnetic radiations, employed in wireless telegraphy, the magnetic storms, as they are termed, which reach us from the sun, and also as we believe, the X-rays, travel through the ether at this one definite velocity.

That in all these cases the same is suggestive of a common source and fountain head, and one is emboldened in the supposition that behind and within the material system with which we are familiar is a far more and infinitely marvelous world from which the universe we know is fed and sustained, and which uses the light-swift undulations of the ether—as the carrying agent of its varied influences.—Charles Russell in the North American Review

Tool Straightens Nails. Even bent wire nails are being salvaged from the waste piles in Germany and returned to the manufacturer by means of an ingenious nail straightener that may be fastened to the workbench. The device is described in the Popular Science Monthly.

Hinged to one end of the cast iron base is a long lever with a handle. A few inches from the fulcrum of the lever an iron rod is hinged, and to this is attached a claw which grips the head of the nail with its head in the slot of the claw and with its body between the jaws of a straightening die which is operated by a lever. The jaws firmly grip the body of the nail and when the long lever is drawn back the nail is pulled through the eye of the die and effectively straightened.

RED CROSS HEALS WOUNDS OF WAR

25,000 Disabled Ex-Service Men in Hospitals After Four Years of Peace.

CHAPTERS' FIELD OF SERVICE

Every Veteran Needing Help Gets Individual Attention of Sympathetic Workers.

When on November 11 the world waits to observe the fourth anniversary of Armistice Day, and the American Red Cross inaugurates its Annual Roll Call for the enrollment of the 1923 membership, the people of the United States may well pause to think of the unparalleled contribution to the cause of peace made by our Army and Navy in the World War. The glory of it is a common tradition; but the wounds of war remain. They are not healed in a day, in a year, not in four years. And on Armistice Day there will be under treatment in Government hospitals over 25,000 ex-service men, broken physically by wounds, exposure, nervous strain and exhaustion incident to their service in the war.

The Government without stint is undertaking to furnish these disabled men with the compensation and medical care to which they are entitled, yet this is not the duty of the Red Cross. Why? Because the Government cannot handle the cases of ex-service men individually; it must handle them in bulk under a standardized policy. The Government has neither the authority, the funds or the equipment for wading out the problem of the individual man. There is where the American Red Cross finds its greatest field for service, and through its very active Chapters in reaching the disabled man with immediate practical help, assisting his family while his claim is pending from the process of adjustment, furnishing articles of comfort, funds to tide over the difficult periods, the friendly touch of personal encouragement, helpful recreation and worry-dispelling amusement. It is the warm hand of sympathy and understanding which the American Red Cross extends to the majority of these disabled ex-service men, some of them crippled in the whirl of life, thousands of them with wives and children dependent upon them, and hundreds of them frequently helpless in the face of grim necessity.

2,679 Chapters Aiding Veterans

In this work, upon whose accomplishment the American Red Cross is urging a record-breaking enrollment in the Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day next closes with Thanksgiving Day, 2,679 Chapters in all parts of the country are engaged. This is 850 more than were working for ex-service men last year when approximately 810,000 were assisted by the National Organization and the Chapters working together in harmonious unity.

For the current fiscal year National Headquarters appropriated $8,030,022, an increase of $395,599.84 over the amount spent for the work among ex-service men in the year ended June 30 last. Since it is estimated that the Chapters will expend close to $7,000,000 from their own funds, the grand total of Red Cross expenditures for this single work is expected again to reach the $10,000,000 mark by June 30, 1923.

Hospital and District Office Work

During the fiscal year a total of over 1,000 persons, paid and volunteer, has been engaged in Red Cross duty in hospitals or district offices of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. An average of 8,000 new cases requires definite and particular attention each month. The demand for Chapter-made articles for hospital patients is constant.

During the past year Service Claims and Information Service at National Headquarters handled 37,250 compensation and insurance claims, 21,550 allotment and allowance cases, and 9,700 miscellaneous claims. Since February, 1922, it has disposed of 64,174 allotment checks payable to veterans which the Post Office Department reported undeliverable.

The Chapter is the unit of the Red Cross organization which is accessible to every disabled veteran or his family. Between July 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, the Chapters had reported 1,655,029 instances of service to ex-service men and their dependents, at a cost estimated from reports now at hand of more than $5,840,000.

The basic plan is far-reaching work of the Red Cross is the individual needs of the disabled veteran to the end that he may obtain his rights under the law, that his special wants that the administration of his own and his family's situation may be rendered happy and cheerful, and that their outlook for the future may be visualized in incentives for independent and fruitful effort.
