• "MYSTERIOUS Castles of Clay," 54 minutes, color: A film about the African termite. The temperature inside the intricately constructed termite hills is kept to within one degree, special types of termites perform different function, they communicate, cultivate a special mushroom vital to their diet, care for young (eggs) and fly to start new colonies. A variety of other animals make use of their mounds or prey on them.

THE FOLLOWING films are scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m., March 27 in the Farmington Hills branch.

• "With Babies and Banners: Story of the Women's Emergency Brigade," 46 minutes, color: The dramatic story of the women's role in the General Motors sit-down strike of 1937 in Flint, Mich. Rare historical footage reconstructs the event, including the life and labor of the times as seen through the eyes of Flint wives and working women. In surprise action, the women show how their experience is relevant to today's working woman.

• "Song of the Canary," 57 minutes, color: By following the dramatic flight of chemical workers in California and textile workers in the Carolinas, the film exposes the epidemic of danger and death in the American workplace. The filmmakers uncover a national scandal and then document the workers touching and spirited response to their plight. Like the miners who took canaries into the mines to detect deadly gases, the film shows how workers have become canaries for society.

THE FOLLOWING films will be shown from 10 a.m. to noon March 28 in the Farmington Hills branch library on Twelve Mile.

• "Memories of Berlin: The Twilight of Weimar Culture," 72 minutes, color: Christopher Isherwood, Arthur Koestler, Carl Zuckmayer, Elisabeth Bergner, Claudio Arrau, Gregor Platigorsky, Lotte Eisner, Herbert Bauer, Mrs. Walter Gropius, Louise Brooks and others recall the cultural efflorescence that took place in Berlin during the last years of the Weimar Republic.

plants but the unusual adaptations of carnivorous plants have reversed the roles. Utilizing an exclusive lens design, many scenes are photographed from inside the plants. Trap mechanisms are revealed from the insect point of view.

• "The Flight of the Gossamer Condor," 27 minutes, color: The saga of Dr. Paul MacCready who made aviation history by building a man-powered aircraft capable of flying a difficult prescribed course across the English channel. Fittingly, the plane is now in the Smithsonian between the Wright Brothers' plane and Apollo 11.

• "KANGAROO Island," 16 minutes, color: A trip off the coast of South Australia where lovable animals move with surprising grace in a warm, happy pageant.

• "Crisis in Yankee Agriculture," 28 minutes, color: A study of the decline of farming in industrialized urban areas. Focuses on the problems of rising land prices, competition from large corporate farms, the shipping of food east from California and the marketing of local produce.

• "Exit 10," 35 minutes, color: A romance adapted from Katherine Mansfield's short story, "Bliss." Chris, a

You may find you've got two policies that provide the same kind of business protection—and that's one policy too many.
Worse than that, you're paying twice.
As insurance professionals, it's our job to help you eliminate duplication of protection.
