

Spring clean-up at Dunckel

Spring clean-up has started for members of North Farmington Garden Club who have adopted O. E. Dunckel Junior High School as its special project. Volunteers turned out in force wearing work clothes and boots to wield rakes through the ditches that surround the school grounds on two sides. Target was the debris that has collected in the ditches through the winter for Ginny Hale and Susie Babcock above, and for Milly Bilton and Mary Ann Gasser at right. About a dozen club women worked through the day, then got an assist from students after school. Mrs. Babcock is president of the club, the newest garden club in the Farmington area. Astrologer Noel Tyl here for lecture, workshop Noel Tyl, nationally known astrologer, author of 16 books and a psychology graduate of Harvard University, will lecture at 8 p.m. April 18 in the Holiday Inn-Southfield.

On April 19, he will conduct an all-day workshop for astrologers only in the Troy-Hilton.

His lecture is called "Coping Under Stress." He will give an informative and entertaining introduction to the astrological-psychological profile of the sun signs, describe how to recognize them, what to expect from persons born under each of the signs and how to deal with them coping under stress.

Tickets for the lecture are $6 each and $25 for the workshop, which is limited to students and professional astrologers. They are available by calling Paul Hudson, in Middle Earth Book Shop, 979-7340.

Prior to his lecture dates, Tyl will appear on Kelley & Company April 16.
