

'Victorious Living' is seminar theme

Farmington Hills Christian Church sponsors "A Victorious Living Seminar" Friday and Saturday in North Farmington High School, 13 Mile Road east of Farmington Road.

The evening sessions at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday include healing ministry to the sick and music furnished by the Nashville based group, Higher Ground.

Sessions at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday will concern God's principles for victorious living.

A separate children's ministry, for those 4-12 years old, is offered during all the sessions.

Earl and Bobbi Moore, who host Joy of Living radio programs and pastor the Agape Christian Center in Plymouth, will be ministering in the seminar.

John Bulloch, pastor of Life of Faith Fellowship in Port Huron, will be teaching and ministering to the sick. Gray and Sandy Harwell, who pastor Farmington Hills Christian Church, will be sharing victory principles from God's Word.

Higher Ground is made up of Wayne and Lee Hilliard, brothers, and Wesley Pritchard.

Once firmly rooted in Southern Gospel, the group now reflects a positive and practical attitude towards Christian living in music ministry geared towards all ages.

Higher Ground records for Milk and Honey, distributed by Zondervan, with inspirational music dedicated to the positive Christian lifestyle.

All sessions to the seminar are open to the public without charge.

Higher Ground members are Wayne and Lee Hilliard and Wesley Pritchard, who bring their music ministry to Farmington Hills for "A Victorious Living Seminar" Friday and Saturday.
