County vote helped Ted edge Carter

By TOM LONERGAN

Southfield and Farmington area Democrats helped give Sen. Edward M. Kennedy an Oakland County victory over President Jimmy Carter in last week's party caucuses.

The Massachusetts senator received 55 percent of the Oakland County presidential preference vote, cast in four congressional district caucuses last Saturday.

urday, Only those who had joined the Democratic party by Feb. 26 were eligible to vote in the caucuses. The caucus vote apportioned convention delegates for the two presidential candidates. When all the counting was over, Kennedy and Carter had split the state's 141 delegates, 71 to 70. Kennedy received 48 percent of the caucus vote statewide (7,793) to Carter's 46 percent (7,567).

(7,783) to Carter's 46 percent (7,587).

OAKLAND DEMOCRATS in the 17th District, which includes Southfield, Lathrup Village, Farmington and Farmington Hills, preferred Kennedy over Carter by a 124-vote margin, 175-51.

Kennedy won in the 19th District, which includes most of Oakland County from the Birmingham-West Bloomfield area, north to Ponlica and west into Livingston County, by 74 votes (285-211). In the 18th District, Kennedy lost the Oakland County proting (Troy and the populous southeast corner) to Carter, 435-389, but won the Macomb portion of the district by 35 votes (41-88).

Oakland County voters in the 12th District, which includes small portions of A von Township and Rochester, preferred Kennedy, 12-10.

chester, preferred Kennedy, 12-10.

EUGENE W. KUTHY of West Bloomfield, the Carter campaign's Oakland County chairman, said the President's support among county Democrats was "about what was expected."

"Jimmy Carter was very soundly beaten by (Arizona Congressman Morris) Udalin in 1978 in Oakland County," Kuthy said. "That didn't happen this time."

Kennedy gained a 3-2 delegate edge in the 18th
District by virtue of a six-vote margin in the overall caucus vote (530-534).

Apparently, five more Democrats voted in the 18th caucus vote may be challenged.

Kennedy and Carter split the 19th Strict's four delegates. Kennedy gained a 3-2 edge in 17th District delegates.

JOANNE SMITH of Farmington Hills, a Kennedy supporter, was elected to one of three Kennedy delegate seals from the 17th District.

She "was not surprised" that Kennedy won 62 percent of the 17th caucus vote.

"We were on the phone and we saw the strength for Kennedy increasing," said Ms. Smith, a former Farmington Hills city council member. She lost a re-election hill to the council due to her support for senior citizen and low-income housing in Farmington Hills.

The 17th was the target of a strong United Auto Workers organizing drive, which enabled Kennedy to defeat Carter, 297-214 in the Wayne County por-tion of the district.

tion of the district.

A month before the caucus vote, Ms. Smith said the Wayne County portion (northwest Detroit and Redford) was Youch and go? for Kennedy. "In the last few weeks, we have seen more of the issues being raised," she said.
Elected as alternate Kennedy delegates from the 7th were Aldo Vagnozzi of Farmington Hills and Susan Remick of Southfield.

IN THE 19TH, Mary Ryan Taras of Birmingham was elected to one of two Kennedy delegate seats, campaigning from a hospital bed. The other went to State Rep. Charlie Harrison of Pontiac. Thomas Brookover, a Walled Lake city councilman, was elected a Kennedy alternate.

Kuthy was elected an alternate delegate for Carter. Delegates for Carter are State Sen. Kerry Kammer of Po.;tiac and Waterford teacher Gall Nolin.

About 40 percent of an eligible 40,635 Democrats voted statewide. In the Oakland County districts, the turnout ranged from 36 percent in the 17th to 40 percent in the 19th, in the 18th, 38 percent of those eligible voted.
