

Ballet leads off summer series

Michigan Ballet Theatre leads off Farmington Area Arts Commission's Summer in the Park series when members stage a full dance performance at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 15, in J Building, Orchard Ridge Campus, Oakland Community College. Denise Dryden and Gail Czajka are members of the theater, which is back for the fourth year in the series. The series is financed by a grant from Michigan Council for the Arts. There is no admission charge.

Volunteers called for study

Dennis Jacobs, a Farmington school psychologist, is looking for volunteers to aid in a research field study. Jacobs is working in concent with the University of Michigan in the study, which involves medicated and non-medicated learning disabled children between the ages of 7-12. The study will entail an assessment of the child's perceptions specific to his or her self-esteem. Participants will be asked to fill out a 10-item questionnaire requiring about 10 to 15 minutes of the child's time. All material will be coded and there is no use of names, keeping the information strictly confidential. Jacob asks potential volunteers to call him at 477-3705 or 649-4535 after 4 p.m.
