

Summer's a time to relax, enjoy

By ALICE BURLINGAME

This is a garden cycle when the pressures aren't so tight.

It's a good time to look around your community and evaluate other landscape patterns to improve your property as you focus toward the future.

Just pick a street where the properties look well groomed. If you find one where the placement of plant material complements the architecture, make a sketch for your future reference.

We are fortunate to have the gardens of Cranbrook House on Lone Pine Road nearby. There is a constant display of exotic flowers throughout the season.

For those who enjoy returning time after time, there is now a season pass — $10 for individuals, $14 per couple and $20 family — which could reduce the admission costs for those who combine visits to the various gardens with hiking over the grounds.

Tickets may be purchased at the gatehouse on Lone Pine Road.

down to earth

Alice Burlingame

The individual gardens are planned and maintained by volunteers who give them constant care throughout the season.

IF, AS practicing gardeners, you are troubled by tent caterpillars with their webbed nests hanging from the branches of trees, you should act quickly to destroy them. When the caterpillars mature, they escape and just wander all over your garden.

If you wish to spray them you can use Dipel or Thuricide. A second alternative is to get on a ladder, carefully cut off the branch with the web of worms, put it in a plastic bag and burn.

The above mentioned sprays are not toxic to people or wildlife. When experienced gardeners see those tents, they hustle.

If you haven't seen or visited the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Road, take Orchard Lake Road to 11 Mile and turn south on Farmington Road.

The center is similar to the Birmingham Community House and is teeming with classes.

It was given to the Farmington community by the estate of Luman Goodenough.

The grounds are extensive and there will be an outdoor farmer's market there every Saturday 9 a.m. to noon during August, September and October.

Jellies, plants plus the usual goodies will be seen at this rural market in hopes of making it as famous as the Ann Arbor market.

This project will be one of the programs of the Farmington Community Center to meet the needs of the area with fresh, local produce and raise funds for the center.

So place the family in the car and trot off to a country market close by beginning Aug. 2.

IF YOU ARE cutting a choice bouquet for your home you can prolong the life of the flowers by adding one half soda pop and one half water in the vase plus 1/2 teaspoon of chlorine bleach. The latter will cut the bacterial growth and the liquid mix will unblock the water conducting vessels in the stems.

Reaching for the best

Denise St. Germaine of Farmington and Judy Acciaoli of Detroit, staff members of Our Lady of Providence School, represented the Northville school during the Michigan Department of Social Services' two-day conference called "Reaching for the Best." The conference was hosted by Children and Youth Services for professionals concerned with foster care and adoption.

Imogene Coca appears in MOT's fall production

Imogene Coca, one of America's most beloved comedienne, will launch Michigan Opera Theatre's (MOT) 10th anniversary season next September. She will be the guest star for the opening production, "Die Fledermaus."

Joining Miss Coca in the classic Johann Strauss operetta, to be sung in English, will be her husband, King Donovan. Miss Coca will appear in the "pants role" of Orlofsky, the melancholy Russian prince whose masked ball is the occasion for an endless series of mistaken identities as husbands avoid wives, servants hide from masters and wardens dance with prisoners — all to the strains of Strauss' loveliest waltzes. Donovan will portray Pesch, the inebriated jester in whose quarters the operetta reaches its dizzy conclusion.

"Die Fledermaus" will open at the Music Hall Center with a subscription performance at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 12. Other subscription performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Sept. 13, 8:30 p.m. Sept. 14, 1:30 p.m. Sept. 17 and 8:30 p.m. Friday Sept. 19.

The limited run will end with a non-subscription benefit performance at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 20. Subscriptions for the entire season, which will include "Of Mice and Men," "Don Giovanni" and "Rigoletto" are now on sale.

Tickets for all performances of "Die Fledermaus" alone will go on Sale Aug. 18-30.
