JAMES KING

Mr. King, 20, of Farmington Hills died July 19 in Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Hills.

He was born July 17, 1960 and was employed as a mechanic by Goodyear. Mr. King was an avid student of guitar and a graduate of Farmington High School.

Taking the first step

Farmington Hills firefighters took the first step in their quest for a city-run emergency medical service by turning in the required petitions to City Clerk Floyd Cairns (center). Bringing in the petitions last week were Pete

Baldwin (left) and Richard Marinucci. Firefighters hope to gain enough support so voters will approve the service at the November election. (Staff photo by Randy Borst)

My doctor pronounced me cured of cancer. My boss didn't.

My boss didn't understand that I was healthy again.

So I was to go. A lot of people are like my boss. They think that everyone dies of cancer. I thought so too. Until the American Cancer Society, through one of its service and rehabilitation programs, helped me return to a normal life.

The ACS also has local units that help Americans who've never had cancer understand it better.

Today, more and more cancer is a curable disease. Ignorance about cancer is curable, too.

Stop excusing your life away.

Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, every year 52,000 men and women die of colorectal cancer in this country alone. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment. Two out of three. So what's your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the guaiac test. This can detect signs of colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. While two out of three people can be saved. Ask your doctor about a guaiac test, and stop excusing your life away.
