Graduates to gather for 50th anniversary

Farmington High School Class of 1930 may very well hit a record high in gathering its members together for a 50th anniversary reunion.

Of the 28 member graduating class, the six who set out to seek fellow-graduates for the reunion have located all but two. Margaret Haugh and Kathryn Hayne are still being sought for the get-together Sunday, Aug. 17.

Six of the graduates are deceased. "Otherwise we have been in contact with them all and most of them are planning their vacation times so we can all get together," said Henry Mahaney.

Plans call for the graduates to meet in the home of Roy and Peggy Young in Waterford, at 1 p.m. Then the group will proceed to a 4 p.m. dinner in Deer Lake Racket Club in Clarkston.

The Youngs will take calls regarding the whereabouts of Ms. Haugh and Ms. Hayne at 623-1280. Mahaney will take calls at 474-5387.

PhotoVenture takes off for Mackinac Island

PhotoVenture, a touring school of photography, offers photo buffs a workshop on Mackinac Island, Friday through Sunday, Aug. 22-24.

Don Loosli, owner, instructor and tour guide for PhotoVenture teams up for the trip with Terry Luke. The two will conduct photo-taking sessions, lectures, a slide show, group discussions, and emphasis on personal assistance with the individual workshop participants.

"We will discuss cameras, lenses, film, exposure, depth of field, motion, close-up photography, composition and lighting," Loosli said. "Transforming your perception of the subject into a photograph which expresses both your personality and the imagery of the moment will be stressed."

Photo-taking sites will be along Mackinac Island's harbor, the limestone formations on the island, homes built in 1820, a fortress built in 1780, the Indian Dormitory, museums and their artifacts.

Workshop fee is $36. PhotoVenture will assist in providing accommodations and transportation.

Interested parties may inquire or make reservations with Hunts Travel, 399-3434.
