Booklet may help clarify problems

There's a new approach to decorating in today's world.
While it is still based on the fundamentals of creating comfortable, attractive and convenient living spaces, it delves a little deeper.

It recognizes the home as a living entered to the convenient living and the convenient living to the convenient living and the convenient living entered to the convenient

It recognizes the home as a living en-vironment, a place that affects person at relationships. As a setting both for doing things with others and for priva-cy, the climate and surroundings of this environment strongly influence the be-havior of the people who live there. To help people who live there. To help people who want to create a pleasing living environment, an in-formative booklet has been produced titled "A Welcome Home" by Sperry and Hutchinson. It clarifies problems confronting the creative but inexperi-enced homemaker as well as those who think they know it all. environment strongly influence the behavior of the people who live there.

To help people who want to create a pleasing living environment, an informative booklet has been produced titled "A Welcome Home" by Sperry and Hutchinson. It clarifies problems confronting the creative but interperienced homemaker as well as those who think they know it all.

Everyone can find useful tips in the 20 pages for dealing with a world in which resources are becoming more limited, materials more natural and the need for creativity more important. For instance, here's some advice on how to achieve an open, airy look with a spacious feeling even in a small room. Use furniture with simple lines seed in the book, "A Welcome Home."
