Wool gathering?

Knits receive a warm welcome

"Knit one, pearl two" sums up the popular return of knits for fall daytime and evening dressing. Knits have risen to lofty heights this year, as you can tell from the "for she's a jolly good girl" reception given her appearance in the knit dress.

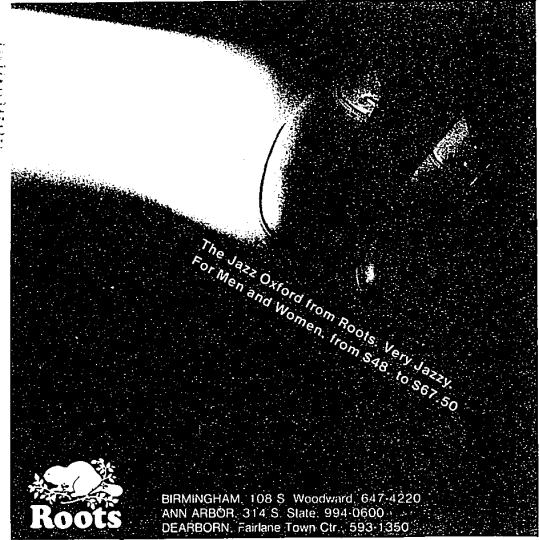

The intricacy of the patterns and the size of the needles used have created myriad sweaters from which she'll freely make her choices this fall. But, there is also everything right about bulky knits that have a cottage industry look about them. Solids, mixes, cables and patterns will all be on view this year from morning into the late, late wee romance hours.

Which means, many a long cozy evening will be spent knitting needles in hand, with a cuddly kitten toying with a ball of wool at her feet. Listen, and you'll hear her whisper under her breath, "Knit one, pearl two, yarn over, and repeat."

However, for expedience, everything in knits is ready and waiting for her at a favorite area store.
