

WSU medical alumni honor Hess

Dr. Joseph W. Hess, professor and chairman of the Department of Family Medicine at Wayne State University School of Medicine has been named the first recipient of the school's medical alumni association endowed chair in family medicine.

The Medical Alumni Board of Governors agreed to establish an endowment fund to support a full-time Family Medicine Department faculty position.

Hess, of Farmington Hills, has been a professor and chairman of the department since its inception in 1974. He was honored with the title of Wayne Medical Alumni Professor of Family Medicine, a designation he will retain for the remainder of his tenure at the school.

A 1968 graduate of Utah College of Medicine, Hess received a masters in education from the University of Illinois in 1968. He joined the WSU staff in 1960 as an instructor in the Department of Medicine. He has played a pivotal role in the planning and organization of the University Health Center.

He is the founding chairman of the family medicine department and has memberships in the Michigan and American Academies of Family Physicians and the Wayne County and Michigan State Medical Societies.

JOSEPH W. HESS

It's a close encounter of the mistaken kind

Farmington Hills and West Bloomfield residents called in various reports to police Monday night of a saucer shaped vehicle flying low over the two cities.

The close encounter turned out to involve an advertising gimmick instead of life on another planet. The UFO was a low flying plane displaying a flashing advertising message, according to Farmington Hills police.
