

Backpacking in backcountry

mont staff, and Scout Jim Nelson. At right, Terry Finatrock rappels down the face of a cliff. Cashin's log records being lost in a valley, packing a burro, panning for gold, jeans ripped to shreds on a climb up 12,000 foot above sea level and eating dehydrated meals that resembled and tasted like a frisbee.

Protects and serves

The Constitution of the United States protects as well as serves; it is proof that the USA can and will function under any circumstances. During Constitution Week (Sept. 17-23) the Daughters of the American Revolution urge citizens to study the constitution, understand its meaning and understand why the United States is the best nation in the world.

Sleepy Hollow Reproductions

Magnificent designs from Sleepy Hollow Manor Houses

"Obviously, it's from Wiggs!" Wiggs... the fine traditional furniture galleries that bring you this exclusive collection (a collection that has received nation-wide acclaim). With the financial endowment of the Rockefeller family, three priceless historic homes in the Hudson River Valley (Sleepy Hollow country) were saved from destruction, then carefully and authentically restored. Thus Van Cortlandt Manor, Philipsburg Manor and Sunnyside (the home of Washington Irving) will be forever preserved as incomparable reminders of our American heritage. Harden Furniture Co. has been selected as the exclusive licensee to reproduce furniture from the Restoration. There are now 14 pieces for dining room and living room...and all may be seen in our Georgetown Court Gallery.
