

Fumbles help Glenn triumph

Westland John Glenn took advantage of fumbles and penalties to trip Livonia Franklin 14-0 last weekend in the Northwest Suburban League football game.

"We scored the first touchdown. Unfortunately, we didn't carry the ball across the endzone," lamented Franklin coach Armand Vigna.

John Walling was about to score for the Patriots in the first quarter, but the ball was knocked out of his grasp and recovered in the end zone by Glenn's Doug Cort.

It was unclear at the time and later in the films of the game whether or not a teammate could have inadvertently jolted the ball loose while trying to make a block.

That was the first fumble that hurt Franklin during the game.

The other occurred in the third quarter. Mike Antal fumbled after catching a screen pass and Keith Zimmerman recovered the loose ball at the Patriots' 35 yard line.

Ten plays later and early in the fourth quarter, Greg O'Neil, a tailback, cracked into the endzone for Glenn's first points.

The Rockets scored their other touchdown with a 70-yard march during their next possession of the fourth quarter. O'Neil plunged in from three yards out.

Jon Johnston kicked both extra points.

Five penalties which totalled 35 yards added the Rockets during the drive. Chuck Gordon, coach of the Rockets, said that his team purposely used a long count to draw Franklin offside a couple of times during the drive.

The Patriots never really threatened offensively other than the time they fumbled the ball in Glenn's endzone.

"You can't fault the defense," Vigna said. "This is the first time in a long time we've held somebody to less than 100 yards rushing."

"The offense did nothing in the second half," Vigna added.

Franklin's entire offensive production for the game was 91 yards — 75 running and 16 passing. Glenn really wasn't that much better. The Rockets rushed for 91 yards and gained 49 through the air.

Frank Iannello was Glenn's best ground-gainer. He picked up 47 yards on 19 carries.

The Rockets will face another physical opponent, Redford Union, next. "They've had an awful lot of big plays this year," Gordon said. "Defensively, we'll have to stop their big play and make them drive it on us."

Vigna will take his Patriots to Garden City East.

"The only good thing that can happen is someone has to win," Vigna said. "Both teams are pretty frustrated and unhappy. I think we're playing good defense and I think the game will be low scoring."

"I guess the guy with the best defense is going to win — but that's the way it always is, isn't it," Vigna said.

Crusading gridders

The College of the Holy Cross has two area players on the Crusader football team. They are junior tight end Terry Malone (left) from Farmington Hills and Detroit Catholic Central High School, and Matt Martin from Highland and Orchard Lake St. Mary. Holy Cross is located in Worcester, Mass.

Borgess falls

"The most important thing is the kids don't quit, don't give up," Cook said.

Borgess moved the ball 241 yards in total offense. Wedesky completed 11-of-28 passes for 155 yards. Cook said the completion rate would have been better had the receivers not dropped eight passes.

Borgess rushed for only 86 yards.

Three times during the game the Spartans faced a fourth-and-one situation, three times they tried a running play and all three times they failed to make the necessary yard. That hurt.

Borgess will attempt to break a three-game losing streak Saturday against Dearborn Divine Child.

"If we can pick up where we left off, we will challenge them," Cook said.
