

Ernest Jones conducts Oakway's next concert

Oakway Symphony Orchestra's second concert of the 1980 season features the Detroit Symphony Wind Quartet and guest conductor, Ernest A. Jones at 3 p.m. Sunday/Oct. 26 in Groves High School, 13 Mile and Evergreen roads in Birmingham.

The program will feature a rarely performed work of Mozart, the Konzeptantes Quartet, and Tchaikovsky's Music to Swan Lake. The program also includes selections from Stravinsky's Firebird and Prokofiev's The Love of Three Oranges.

Making up the Detroit Symphony Wind Quartet are oboist Donald Baker, clarinetist Paul Schaller, Robert Williams bassoonist, and Eugene Wade on French Horn. They are all principals with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Baker joined the symphony in 1973. Prior to that he was first chair with the Dallas Symphony and has studied with John Holmes of the Boston Symphony, with Devere Moore at Oberlin and Marcel Tabuteau in Nice.

A member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra since 1957, Paul Schaller holds first chair in the orchestra. He started his study of the clarinet with his father and has attended both Tanglewood and Juilliard. An assistant professor at Wayne State University, he was principal clarinetist with the Pittsburgh and New Orleans symphonies.

Joining the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in 1972 after serving with the Minnesota Orchestra, Wade is principal horn with the orchestra. A member of the faculty at Wayne State, he studied with Philip Parkas of the Chicago Symphony and Vern Reynolds at Eastman School.

Williams, first bassoonist, has been a member of the symphony since 1974. He has held the first chair in the Tucson Symphony, Winnipeg Symphony, CBC Orchestra, Minnesota Orchestra and the Colorado Philharmonic.

Tickets are available at the door. General admission is $5; students and senior citizens, $2. Tickets may also be purchased at Hudson's Northland, Westland, Twelve Oaks and Oakland Mall, Madonna College and Hammel Music in Livonia.

Fishmans celebrate golden anniversary

Meyer and Sophie Fishman of Southfield will celebrate 50 years of marriage on Oct. 26. The couple were married Oct. 26, 1930 in Detroit.

Mrs. Fishman is the former Sophie Edelstein, daughter of Abraham and Rose Edelstein. Their children are Alvin Millard of Southfield and David Bernard of Birmingham.

The occasion was marked at a party given by their children at the Franklin Hills Country Club for close family members. The couple have five grandchildren — Richard, Ellen, Amy, Lisa and Nancy Ann.

The Fishmans are affiliated with the Standard Club of Detroit, Franklin Hills Country Club, One Hundred Club, the board of trustees of Sinai Hospital and the board of directors of Camp Tamarack.

Fishman is a past chairman of the Allied Jewish Campaign and has been active with the Jewish Home for the Aged, Detroit Service Group, Congregation Shaarey Zedek and Reiden Lodge of B'nai B'rith.

Public more aware of fraud in mails

Each year millions of dollars are lost by American consumers in mail fraud and misrepresentation by mail, but the public awareness of the problem is growing, said Southfield's postmaster.

In an effort to heighten the preventive aspects of consumer education, Postmaster General William F. Bolger has designated Oct. 6-11 as the fifth annual Postal Consumer Protection Week.

"More people are coming to us with their complaints about mail fraud than in past years," Bolger said.

"In fact, mail fraud complaints increased nearly 27 percent in fiscal 1979 so we know our message about being on guard against incredible claims and get-rich-quick schemes is getting through to more people."

He said that the majority of companies who are part of the mail order industry are honest and dedicated to customer satisfaction.

"But with just a few operators out to swindle the public, say only two percent, you can see that consumer losses each year come to more than a billion dollars."

Other losses are attributable to a variety of investment schemes, real estate and charity included.

Typical examples of mail fraud includes cure for a variety of illnesses, work-at-home promotions, and chain letters.

The elderly continue to be prime targets of mail fraud operators because of declining health and attempts to protect savings from the continuing effects of inflation.

Bolger urged consumers, especially the elderly, to seek advice from experts before investing in any claim that sounds too good to be true.

"Asking a company to back up their claims is one way to protect yourself," he said. "But if you suspect fraud, or if you have not received merchandise ordered, contact my office or a postal inspector."

Phone numbers are listed under U.S. government-Postal Service in local telephone directories.

Drury-Zatkun

Michelle Ellen Zatkun and Donald R. Drury were married recently at Temple Israel in West Bloomfield.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zatkun of Southfield and Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Drury of Lexington, Mass.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a white silk-satin gown trimmed at the sleeves with white silk flowers. Her headpiece was of matching silk flowers and white tulle.

The bridegroom attended at Michigan State University and is presently studying at Northeastern University near Boston, Mass. His bride was graduated from Southfield High School in 1973 and with honors from MSU in 1977.

Following a Maine honeymoon, the couple will reside in Acton, Mass.

Scandinavian Symphony beginning 51st season

The Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of conductor Douglas Morrison, will open its 51st season at 8:20 p.m. Oct. 18.

Scheduled for the auditorium of Southfield-Lathrup High School in Southfield, the concert will feature internationally known pianist, Flavio Varani.

Also on the evening's program will be the Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck and Rossini's Overture to Tancredi.

Tickets are $4.50 for adults, $2.25 for students, and $3.50 for senior citizens in groups of 10 or more.
