Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill.—The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wisc., woman wrote: "I had a Laliuque 1965 plate... which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A39843, 9301 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, Ill. 60058. A postcard will do.

Retirement planning is seminar topic

Karmen Brown and Joan MacKnesch lead Farmington Community Center's new Retirement Planning Seminar. The class meets for two sessions from 7:30-9:30 p.m. on Mondays beginning Nov. 3.

Participants will explore their current lifestyle and learn to assess their future needs. They will be asked if they are prepared to become a successful senior adult by having financial, health and housing needs adequately met.

Ms. MacKnesch earned her master's degree from Wayne State University. Fee is $15. Registrations are being taken now by calling the center, 477-8404.

Class tells all about food processors

Pat Berry, director of home economics at Royal Oak's Micro-Place, will share her culinary talent in a four-session Food Processor class beginning Thursday, Oct. 23, in Farmington Community Center.

Miss Berry, a graduate home economist from Michigan State University, will teach her class to become adventuresome with their food processor and with recipes they prepare for their family and guests.

Classes may be taken at either 1-3 p.m. or 7-9 p.m. Fee is $35.

She says that a processor liberates a cook from scores of tedious jobs by slicing, shredding, chopping and blending foods.

Five different processors will be demonstrated and their merits compared. Students will watch Miss Berry create pates, dressings, sauces, dips, breads, main courses and canapes, and sample the results.

Registration will be taken by calling the center, 477-8404. Farmington Community Center is located at 24705 Farmington Rd.

Local chiropractors are offering a behavioral modification do-it-yourself program developed by two professors of Health Education at a prominent midwestern university.

Recent clinical studies indicate behavioral modification is almost TWICE AS EFFECTIVE as medical diet programs.

If you'd like to lose 10 pounds or more, you can volunteer, today by contacting the doctors listed below. The only charge is a $5.00 fee for your personal behavioral modification manual.
