

Orthodox prelate visits

St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church of Livonia will roll out red carpet this weekend for the head of its denomination, the Most Rev. Metropolitan Philip Saliba.

The visiting prelate, primate of the Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America, will celebrate the divine liturgy at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the church at 18100 Merriman.

Later he will be speaker for a 6 p.m. banquet at Roma Hall of West Bloomfield, a sellout with 600 tickets purchased at $150 per couple. Funds raised will be used by St. Mary Church, which draws from a wide area, for construction of the church's new community center at the Merriman site.

The church, founded in 1972, welcomed Metropolitan Philip when it dedicated its sanctuary in 1976.

METROPOLITAN PHILIP SALIBA

"We are very happy to have him coming back to us," said the Rev. George Shahouh, pastor of the 150-family local church.

"His presence always brings good things to us. He is a very warm person who has worked all his life for the poor and the needy."

THE METROPOLITAN, it was noted by the local priest, is a native of Lebanon who includes Wayne State University among the schools where he has studied and been awarded degrees.

As a WSU student, he was president of the Arab Student Foundation, and he graduated with a bachelor degree in 1959. Ordained the same year, he was elevated to the archdiocese's highest office in 1966. Nine years later he effected with Archbishop Michael Shaheen of Toledo a union of two North American Antiochian archdioceses.

Fr. Shahouh said the metropolitan has played an important role in seeking peace in the Middle East.

Since the outbreak of Israeli-Arab conflict in 1957, he said, the prelate has visited United States presidents Lyndon Johnson, Dwight Eisenhower, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter and also has had an audience with Pope Paul VI.

In 1968 he established a $100,000 endowment fund in Beirut to provide financial grants for the education of Arab refugees in the fields of science, medicine, economics and technology, and three years ago he established an endowment of $500,000 for the Balamand Orthodox Academy in Lebanon.

"THE FIRST Christians came from Antioch — you find that in the book of the Acts," said Fr. Shahouh, "and our metropolitan is an example of a true Christian Arab."
