The Weekend College at Mercy College of Detroit is accepting applications for the Winter semester which begins Jan. 10, 1981.

Students are urged to enroll now in programs leading to a bachelor's degree in business administration, health services or public administration. New this term is the offering of an associate degree in the legal assistant program.

"Our Weekend College is becoming increasingly popular with adults who work or are raising a family," said director Patricia D. Gallagher.

"They find it gives them an option, a creative alternative to the night school concept. More and more men and women are discovering our Weekend College is a refreshing learning experience."

The Weekend College takes only part of the weekend — and not every weekend, said Sister Patricia.

Generally, students attend classes on only five Saturdays a semester, for each three-credit hour course. The maximum recommended is three courses per semester. Directed studies enable students to cover the same course content and meet the same academic standards as in regular day or evening classes.

The interaction of students with each other and with faculty members is one of the Weekend College's most important concepts," said Sister Patricia.

"It helps them understand their own valuable contribution to the educational process and encourages them to share their life and work experiences with each other."

The Humanities Department of Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus is sponsoring a trip to Cancun, Mexico, from Dec. 19 to 26. Participants will have the opportunity to learn about the cultural traditions of the Spanish and Mayan Indians.

Dr. Charles Braun, Professor of Spanish and Humanities, will direct the tour.

College students, high school seniors and interested members of the community are invited to participate. A present enrollment of 200 students includes male and female employees of banks, utility companies, auto manufacturers, hospitals and other health care institutions.

Financial aid may be available for persons taking at least six credit hours per semester.

For further information or for an application, call 592-6100 or write to the Weekend College director at Mercy College of Detroit, 8200 W. Outer Drive, Detroit 48219.

Arrangements have also been made for a seminar exchange with educational peer groups in Cancun.
