

Women communicators sponsor 'Western Night'

Detroit Chapter of Women in Communications Inc. (WICI) hosts Western Night, a fund-raising party to enable the chapter to increase its scholarship awards this year.

The event runs continuously through the evening beginning at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10 in AW's Rodeo, an urban cowboy saloon, at 5838 Dixie Highway, Waterford.

Guests will be invited to dance to country music, eat Tex-Mex food, enter the Best Western Dress Contest and Buck-for-a-Buck on the Detroit area's first bucking bull machine.

Those who don't choose to ride the bucking bull can bet on how long others can stay in the saddle.

Band-a-Rama set Thursday

Band-A-Rama 1980, an annual event in Harrison High School, gets under way tonight at 8 p.m. in the school, 29995 Twelve Mile Road.

The gala performance is comprised of concerts by the school's symphony band and marching band, given as a thank-you for area residents who gave a donation to the band during Tag Days in September.

Among those who have accepted the challenge are Rob Kress and Joe Spencer from WKXZ-TV; TV's Anne Doyle and Nancy McCauley; and Rick Sullivan from the Free Press. WCXI's disc jockey, R. T. Griffen will be master of ceremony for the main events.

Tickets, at $5, will be available at the door.

WICI in Detroit is made up of 350 women employed in journalism, public relations, broadcasting, advertising, film writing and productions, promotion, publishing, technical writing and photography.

Members have continuously upped the scholarship they give each year to aid young women aiming for fields in communications.

Jaycettes put out call for crafters
