

Writing shows orderliness

Dear Mrs. Green,

I often receive compliments on my handwriting, but my husband teases me about it because I am so meticulous. For instance, when I am writing a word I will often go back and dot an 'i' three or four times, or retrace a 't'. And if a letter isn't quite dark enough I will trace over it until it conforms to the rest of the letters. Or if I don't like the way a letter is shaped I will doctor it until it satisfies me. I would appreciate your analysis of this.

D.L., Farmington Hills

Dear D.L.,

You should receive compliments on your handwriting as it is both legible and neat. Handwriting such as yours bespeaks orderliness. But you like a place for everything and everything in its place.

Your interests lie mainly in the mind.

dane area and all details of what is happening right here and now are important. Trivialities often assume large proportions. You are extremely meticulous by nature. This is also why you are so unduly careful about the formation of your letters (emphasized middle writing zone, careful punctuation and spacing).

Cool would probably describe you best. In an emergency situation you are the one who could remain calm and not go to pieces. You seldom show your emotions freely, but choose to place controls on them.

IMPULSIVE you aren't, but take time to weigh a situation giving thought to how it will affect you personally. Usually you are quite objective (slant, large middle zone, and shape of terminals).

In the formative years I feel you were probably raised in a home where the mother influence was dominant. Here you learned the importance of doing things properly and precisely. This has made you conscientious and anything you attempt must be done well. However, you sometimes start a project expecting approval and encouragement and find your interest waning when they are not forthcoming. Your need for recognition and desire to be outstanding are very strong.

In a structured pattern you seem to work best. You tend to stay with what you know and are familiar with rather than broadening your horizons by trying the unfamiliar.

You are a loyal person to both friends and ideals. Your family and friends know they can count on this. In interpersonal relationships you seek to relate smoothly. Emotional scenes are distasteful to you. You are a good listener and seem to have a live-and-let-live philosophy.

A retentive memory is spelled out by the 'i' dots so precisely placed above the stem. Your rounded handwriting style and careful punctuation combine to suggest the visual learner.

An independent nature seems almost like a paradox to all that I have said previously about you. However, from beneath your genteel personality some hostility and defiance can surface when you feel the need for defensive action.

Co-eds form new chapter of Alpha Delta Pi

Forty-eight Oakland University women were initiated today as members of the newly established Zeta Upsilon chapter of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, Oakland University.

Among the new members of the sorority are Cynthia W. Barrows, Theresa Marie Beaver, Deborah K. Nowak, Deborah A. Shonsky, Renee A. Sloan and Kimberly A. Taucher, all from Troy.

Others are Pamela E. Field from Southfield, Jeanne C. Hickey from Rochester, and Valerie L. Melnick from West Bloomfield.

Deborah A. Kozak and Leslie E. Walker are both from Birmingham. Advisor for the group is Doreen Bilyria, director of Residence Halls at the university.
