

Out, an Avon Township florist, took several weeks to decide the perfect accents needed for their display. Charlotte and J. Hice spent several days in Chicago making decorating selections.

According to their son, Kelley, this is the fourth year the Hices have designed a Meadow Brook Hall Christmas exhibit.

"We've had the Italian Room in other years," Hice said. "We wanted something different this year, so we're doing Danny's (Dodge) room."

Hice said his parents enjoy the challenge of decorating a portion of the huge home. They always seek an original twist to the overall theme.

"MY DAD likes to do it because it allows him to be creative," Hice said.

The Berkeley Doll Hospital and Toy Soldier Shop will join Jacobsons of Rochester to decorate the Great Hall.

"It's been a big challenge for us," Parish said, adding the Doll Hospital and Toy Soldier Shop will contribute a huge, fully lighted, furnished doll house "with the look of Christmas cheer," Parish said.

"The kids always like to see that," he added.

Parish said the Christmas Walk is a "perfect match" for his fine toys.

"People who are going to spend time walking through Meadow Brook Hall will have a taste for better toys," Parish said.

But advertisement is not the only reason Parish takes on the decorating project each year. The home itself inspires memories of three years he spent living in the coach-house of an England country estate much like Meadow Brook Hall.

"And you get to know all the personal stories of the Dodge family," Parish said.

"The walk is a cultural event.

"I look forward to it eagerly every year," he added.

Knole Cottage, the six-room playhouse built for Frances Dodge, Mrs. Wilson's daughter, will be decorated for Santa Claus this year. The jolly ol' elf will visit with youngsters in the $10,000 mini-mansion built in 1926.

Weekday admission to Meadow Brook Hall Christmas walks will be $5 for adults. Charges for those younger than 19 or older than 64 will be $4.

Weekend admission will be $6. Admission to Knole Cottage and the Meadow Brook Greenhouse will be 50 cents per person.
