Sticky fingers

en into rooms may be one step ahead of the shoplifter. Senso-matic price tags which buzz when clothes are taken out of the store is another deterrent.

The professional, or even the well-practiced amateur often operates as part-shoplifter, part-con artist. The con artist skill comes to the fore when he or she successfully finagles a refund check, with no proof of purchase, from a store employee. It becomes even more of a coup when the check is mailed.

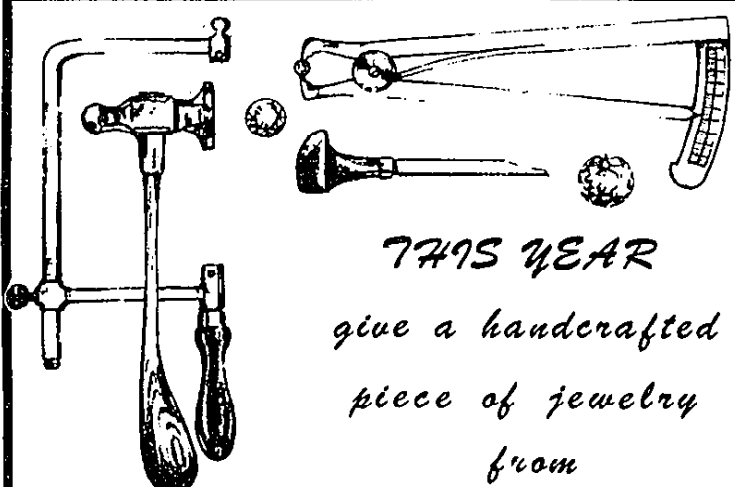

THE PROFESSIONAL shoplifter may damage merchandise he or she just heisted from a rack and have it repaired by an in-house repair service. That means a free ride out of the store. Employees should check rush orders for repair with no sales receipt.

First you look at the purse may be but a sweet refrain from an old Motown hit, but the sure tip-off, the sure give-away, is Sticky Finger's eyes, police experts say. Employees are advised to watch customers with eyes on the move.

THE KEY IS to remove temptation from potential criminals, police say. Empty boxes on display are perfect for grab-and-run shoplifters, but leather jackets chained to racks frustrate those looking for an illegal bargain.

Salespersons who are courteous and attentive can deter shoppers from lifting the merchandise and stealthily walk away. It's a good idea for clerks to linger behind distant corners and avoid high-piling of wares for Sticky Fingers to crouch under.

Sticky Fingers is one of an army of shoplifters. One teenager even stole a book on how to steal by Abby Hoffman. The title, "Steal This Book."

The "Must" Watch... the classic Cartier Tank... translated into vermeil with a lacquer dial. On the left, dial of rich lacquer color, in tones of ivory, onyx black, lapis blue, coral red, or tortoise brown. On the right, ivory or black dials with contrasting Roman numeral and hands. With vermeil case, sapphire winding stem and lizard strap. In sizes for men and women.

The Cartier Lighter... from Paris, to London, to Hong Kong and New York... the famous Cartier lighter is lighting up the world. Each detail of its construction has been carefully considered: the invisible mechanism, the weight and feel in the hand, the sound the cap makes when closed. Not only is the Cartier lighter pleasing to the eye, it is technically superior to any other on the market. Shown, striped pattern, gold micron core.

Cartier Leather... the world renowned jeweler brings you the latest in status leather goods. The Cartier clutch, ideal for city living and a perfect travel companion. With room for tickets, currency and passports. Its companion, the slim three-fold credit card case that keeps all your important cards at your fingertips. Both in smooth burgundy calf, highlighted with brass corners and the interlocking "C" hallmark.
