Following is a taste of some of the magazines available and a sampling of articles from recent issues.

Do you know:

- An armchair bon vivant who hates to go out on Saturday night?
- A person who never fails to comment on the weather each time you meet?
- Family members you seldom see because they are bent over the basement workbench, the backyard garden or a collection of hunting paraphernalia?

You've hit the gift-giving jackpot so don't miss the chance to pamper someone's distinct style or taste.

Give the personality on your Christmas list a magazine subscription. But not a mass-circulation magazine available all over town.

Try magazines with titles such as Ducks Unlimited, Soldier of Fortune, Weatherwise, Workbench, Shuttle, Spindle & Dyepot, Organic Gardening, Opera News, or Guitar.

With a little perseverance looking through well-stocked bookstores or libraries you may hit upon any number of special-interest publications.

• Weatherwise, "the Magazine about Weather" — bi-monthly; $12 a year; articles: "Amateur weather observations," "An apparent new record for extreme rainfall," "Hurricane chemistry," "The Battle of Monmouth." Subscriptions: Heldref Publications, Suite 504, 4000 Albemarle Street, NW, Washington D.C. 20016.

• Workbench, Do-it-Yourself Professional Guidance — bimonthly; $4 a year; articles: "Pullout shelves," "Refinishing kitchen cabinets," "Solar dollhouse," "Laying new floor." Subscriptions: Workbench, P.O. Box 5966, Kansas City, Mo. 64111.

• Ducks Unlimited — bi-monthly; $10 a year; articles: "The Hennepin Hunt," "Cranes South of the Sand Hills," "The Grandest of Waterfowl," "Blackjack of the Bog." Subscriptions: National Headquarters of Ducks Unlimited, P.O. Box 66300, Chicago, Ill. 60666.

• Realites, "the International Guide to Fine Living" — bi-monthly; $18 a year; articles: "A Toast to Bordeaux where the world's finest wines and most hospitable people await you," "Living on a grand scale in Genoa," "The Gucci story: from bags to riches." Subscriptions: Realites, 123 World Blvd., P.O. Box 1011, Manasquan NJ. 08736.
