

At Augsburg Lutheran

Cross is artistic symbol of belief

By SHERRY KAHAN

Worshippers in Augsburg Lutheran Church in Redford Township have a new focus for their Sunday contemplation, a cross blending the work of Dr. Ken McKersie of Dearborn Heights and Mark Talaba of Birmingham.

Dr. McKersie, a member of the congregation, made the wooden cross which is dedicated to the memory of Karl and Ruth Lehman Sr. and Clifford and Rena Palmer.

The stained glass section of the project was carried out by Talaba, and dedicated to the memory of the Rev. Lightner A. Swan, pastor of the church from 1951-70. It was commissioned by Swan's wife, Ann, along with the Rev.

Daniel Ward, present pastor. Financing came from funds donated in memory of Swan.

Rising 11 feet, the cross is set against a white background. Lights concealed within it highlight the red, purple and rose colors of the stained glass which flows upward at its side.

The blue circle on the center stands for hope in the promise of God's love in Christ. A dove, a triangle, the letter A, and the Greek symbol for Omega are pictured in white against a red background at the top of the cross.

The dove is the symbol of the Holy Spirit, and the triangle refers to the Trinity. The symbols of Alpha and Omega express Christ as the first and last, the beginning and end.

Shades of purple, violet and rose represent the colors of kingship, the season of Lent and the blossom of new life.

McKersie, a veterinarian, is a carpenter in his spare time and sometimes helps the church in remodeling projects. He fitted the wood for the cross together skillfully so that joints are almost invisible.

Talaba's job was to fit the glass just as neatly to the cross.

He studied McKersie's cross, made sketches and had one accepted. Next he selected handblown glass from stock from Germany, France, England and the U.S. and cut it into the shapes he wanted.

"Stained glass is a very potent art form," he said. "When the light comes through the glass it is like being in the sun. The colors radiate out to you. Light fascinates me. I work directly with the effect of light."

He grew up amid an artistic family in Union Lake, drawing and painting but never quite hitting on the art form that was for him. While at Michigan State University, he became interested in stained glass and before long had decided to make it his medium.

For 11 years he has made a successful living, mainly by installing stained glass windows in various churches. Recognition has brought him invitations to lecture at the International Glass Arts Conference in San Francisco.

Pastor given highest award

The Orchard Lake Schools board of regents has selected the Rev. Anthony Iruce as recipient of its Fidelitas Medal, highest honor accorded by the group of Catholic schools.

Fr. Iruce is pastor of St. Joseph Church in Central Falls, R.I., and has served on the OLS board of regents and board of trustees. He is affiliated with many Polish and Catholic organizations and in 1974 received the first Orchard Lake Schools alumni association "Man of the Year" award.

He is the 33rd recipient of the medal. Previous winners include Cardinal John Krol and Secretary of State Edmund Muskie.
