Law expert at meet

A public interest law specialist will address the Oakland County Region of the Women Lawyers Assn. at 12:15 p.m. Feb. 12 in Bedell's, Woodward at Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Prof. Zygmunt Plater of Wayne State University Law School will answer the question "A Public Interest Lawyer Looks at Our Profession: Can We Do 'Well' by Doing Good?"

Plater's activities have included coal mining, land use, wildlife and natural river regulations.

Persons interested in the meeting or the organization should contact Anne Hienstra at 353-9500.

Top architect at LIT

Architects must keep an entire city idea in mind even while designing a single building.

That will be the theme of internationally famed architect Eberhard Zeidler when he speaks at Lawrence Institute of Technology Feb. 12.

His free lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the architecture auditorium.

Goldwater to address GOP

U.S. Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., will be featured speaker at the Oakland County Republican Lincoln Club dinner Feb. 20.

It will be held in Roma's of Bloomfield in the Miracle Mile shopping center, Telegraph north of Square Lake Road, Pontiac. Cash bar opens at 6 p.m. with dinner served promptly at 7.

Club President Catherine Walters said tickets at $15 may be ordered from the Oakland County Republican headquarters at 646-8414.

Pursell lands on transit panel

One of Michigan's strongest advocates of rapid transit has landed a post on a congressional committee that will handle transportation appropriations.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, whose 2nd District includes Livonia, was named one of four Republicans on the transportation subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee. He is also the only Michiganian on the panel.

The subcommittee will handle money bills affecting highways as well as a subject dear to Pursell's heart — rapid transit. As a state senator, he guided the first local funding bill for the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority through the Michigan Legislature.

THE RANKING Republican on transportation is Larry Coughlin of Pennsylvania," said Pursell. "He's a moderate, and he's from the same state as Drew Lewis, the transportation secretary."

Pursell said he sees Lewis as "more moderate and pragmatic" than most of the ideological conservatives in the Reagan cabinet, some of whom have said no more capital intensive rapid transit projects should be constructed.

SEN. J. J. S. has a $1.4 billion project on the drawing board for which the Ford Administration in 1976 promised an initial $600 million.

Two other Republicans serve on the transportation subcommittee, but Pursell said they are expected to concentrate more heavily on other subcommittee assignments, leaving the bulk of the GOP input to come from him and Coughlin.

Coughlin of Villanova, Pa., has served in Congress since 1968 in a district that includes part of Philadelphia and many suburban boroughs. An ex-Marine, he is a graduate of Harvard's Graduate Business School and a lawyer and, like Pursell, has been picked an "outstanding young man" by the Jaycees.
