Judge backs confession

Since that time, he has been in and out of state mental hospitals. In January 1979 he attempted suicide prior to a court examination to determine his competency to stand trial.

In November 1979, after conducting a hearing on Boucher's mental condition, Judge Andrews ruled Boucher he was mentally competent to stand trial. Although he was charged at one time with the murder of his son, Boucher was never tried on that charge. Judge Andrews earlier dismissed charges in the son's death for lack of a speedy trial.
